Scientific Research Expansion Urged

Truman Board Says Security Depends On It

Proposes Spending Two Billions Year

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP) — A proposal that the nation spend more than $2,000,000,000 a year by 1957 for scientific research as a major factor "in national survival" was made today in a report to President Truman.

Asserting "the security and prosperity of the United States depend today, as never before, upon the rapid extension of scientific knowledge," John R. Steelman, chairman of the President's "Scientific Research Board" in a 50-page document declared:

"A nation which is backward in fundamental scientific knowledge—which falls behind others in the exploration of the unknown—would be severely handicapped in any future war."

The report, prepared by Steelman after a 10-month survey of the nation's scientific status during which he consulted with the 15-man board, declared:

"It is commonly said that another war would be fought with push-buttons; that developments in electronics and other areas will lead to the development of completely automatic weapons. This is altogether likely.

Taxes Must Supply Money

"While such developments lie some years in the future, there is no reason to suppose that they are not within the realm of the ultimately practicable.

"But knowledge precedes push-buttons, and theory precedes its application x x x."

In setting the more than $2,000,000,000 goal for 1957—one per cent of the entire national income—the report said it would mean more than doubling, within the next decade, the present $1,100,000,000 expended by the federal government, industry and universities for research and development.

Steelman said "a substantial part of the money for such a program will have to be supplied by taxes and should be." He added that the federal government would have to finance at least half of the research budget—as it does now.

"There is every reason to anticipate a doubling of research and development expenditures by industry in the next decade, in view of the long term trends and the increasing dependence of industry upon research and development," the report continued.

"But there is little likelihood of any considerable expansion of university expenditures out of their present income sources."

Truman Issues Statement

President Truman, in a statement accompanying the report, said:

"We must constantly enlarge the boundaries of scientific knowledge in order to continue to provide the benefits of full production and full employment, and in order to protect our democracy from the dangers it faces in an uneasy world."

The report placed heavy emphasis on the need for basic research, and President Truman commented:

Father Who Abandoned Children Is Sentenced

CHICAGO, Aug. 27 (AP) — Frank Gillespie, 26, who said he and his wife, Geraldine, 24, left three of their four children in a church because they were unable to find a place to live, was sentenced today to one year in jail on a charge of contributing to the dependency of his children.

His wife was placed on probation for a year on the same charge.

Arrested after their sons, Daniel, 4, Steven, 3, and John, 1, were found alone in the Holy Name Cathedral Sunday night, the Gillespies said they had left the boys there "because we thought it would be best for them." Their fourth child, Margaret Ann, 5, is living with Mrs. Gillespie's mother in Fence, Wis.

Britain Cuts Food Ration, Bans Pleasure Motoring, Outlaws Foreign Travel

CHILD EVANGELIST — Renee Martz, 7-year-old daughter of Jack Martz, Los Angeles, Calif., evangelist, wears cowboy boots as she preaches a sermon in London's Albert Hall. She and her father arrived in England recently after a tour of Australia.

Measures To Save $912,000,000 Year

LONDON, Aug. 27—(AP)—Britain sliced her scanty food ration thinner, banned pleasure motoring and outlawed foreign travel for most of her citizens today in a series of sweeping moves to keep her dollarless economy off the rocks.

No. 10 Downing Street, Prime Minister Attlee's official residence, announcing the cuts while the Premier was away on vacation, estimated the measures would save 228,000,000 pounds ($912,000,000) in the next year—more than a third of Britain's 600,000,000 ($2,400,000,000) annual deficit between exports and imports.

"Pretty grim" was the typical reaction of the British "little man" and his wife to the news that their present weekly meat ration—which allows about two pork chops apiece—was being cut by one-seventh, that their cherished tea ration would be held to two ounces a week, and their occasional drive into the country a thing of the past.

Second Cut In Meat Ration

The meat ration was sliced to one shilling's worth (20 cents) a week—two pence (four cents) thinner than it ever was during the war. This was the second cut. It was reduced to one shilling, two pence—the wartime level—after the fuel shortage last spring.

The tea ration, already a source of complaint to tea-loving Britons, was frozen at the lowest level it reached during the darkest days of the war.

The basic gasoline ration was abolished completely.

This meant a complete ban on pleasure motoring after October 1. Until now the allowance had permitted Britons to drive 180 miles a month. The allowance recently was reduced from 270 miles. As in wartime, Britons now will be able to use automobiles only for essential purposes by obtaining priority gasoline.

A slash of 15 to 18 per cent was ordered in food supplies now used by restaurants and hotels, which millions depend upon to supplement rations at home. The period which a person can stay at a hotel without surrendering his ration book was reduced from four days to two.

Ban On Travel Funds

The import of certain luxury foods, to be announced later, was prohibited.

In addition, the announcement said, "steps are being taken to limit the number of, and attendance at, public luncheons and dinners."

Foreign travel for pleasure after October 1 was stopped by a ban on funds for that purpose. Cook's Travel Agency estimated that the regulation had blighted the hopes of 100,000 Britons who had hoped to "get away from it all" by going to the continent for winter sports. Now they will have to go to Eire, the Channel Islands or other places in the Sterling area, or stay home.

Majority Of U. N. Atom Group OKs Basis Of Report

USSR Takes No Part In Drafting Papers

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 27—(AP)—A majority of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission agreed today on general principles for operating an international atomic control agency which have been advocated by the United States.

This meant that, in effect, the commission has approved the skeleton of its second report to the United Nations Security Council, due by September 15.

Russia took no part in drafting these principles and has frequently expressed opposition to several of them.

Some delegates made general statements. Then they showed no sign of speaking further until Russia is heard. They sat silently when the chairman, Capt. Alvaro Alberto, of Brazil, repeatedly offered the floor to any delegate.

Gromyko To Speak Friday

Andrei A. Gromyko, of Russia, finally said he would speak Friday.

Frederick H. Osborn, United States atomic deputy, told the commission's Political Committee today that his government "is fully prepared to accept" working papers which have been drawn up by subcommittees in preparation for the second report.

China and Brazil added their approval.

Britain, France, Canada and Australia said they agreed with the general principles but said they had some further suggestions to make. Belgium did not speak today but a member of the delegation said later that the Belgians already had indicated their approval.

Realistic Europe Aid Plan Wanted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The State Department, obviously concerned over reports that Europe may ask more than $29,000,000,000 from the United States under the Marshall plan, served notice today that the European recovery program must be reasonable and realistic.

Undersecrtary of State Robert A. Lovett told reporters that the United States is looking to the 16-nation Paris conference to produce such a program. It should, he said, call for diminishing demands year by year on American aid.

Earlier, the State Department dispatched George F. Kennan, head of Secretary Marshall's policy planning board, by plane to Paris with the latest American ideas on future aid.

The Marshall plan called for Europe to draw up a plan to get on its feet economically, and pledged that the United States would stand ready to give any assistance feasible.

Sixteen nations are in conference in Paris, appraising their own ability to help themselves and working on an estimate of how much American assistance will be needed

Diplomatic authorities said they have pushed a preliminary calculation past $29,000,000,000.

Some officials say any such sum is unrealistic because of the need of winning approval of any additional spending for foreign relief from an economy-conscious Congress.

Head For Scotland

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 27 (AP)—George Truman, Los Angeles, and Cliff Evans, Washington, left Keflavik Airport, 30 miles southwest of Reykjavik, for Prestwick Scotland, at 8:55 p. m., (4:55 p. m., Eastern Standard Time) today on the next leg of their round-the-world flight in two light sport planes.

Legion Group Tosses Blast At Communism

Calls For Support Of Marshall Plan

NEW YORK, Aug. 27—(AP)—The American Legion's Foreign Relations Committee blasted Communism as "the greatest menace in the field of international relations facing America" in a report issued late today on the eve of the Legion's 29th national convention.

The report, one of a series prepared by committees for guidance of the convention, mentioned no foreign state by name but it declared "the aggressive spread of Communism" was "fostered and promoted by a totalitarian state."

To combat Communism, the committee urged strong backing of the Marshall plan for aid to Europe, "control of the acute situation in the Balkans, coupled with a strengthening of the United Nations."

Record Encampment Predicted

Meanwhile, frolicking Legionnaires took over most of the city's hotels and fun spots as the convention opening neared, their ranks swelled by almost every arriving train, bus and plane.

Legion officials predicted the gathering will be the biggest ever, topping the record-setting encampment of 1937 when New York first entertained the veterans' organization.

Lt. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, the Army's acting deputy chief of staff, told the Legion National Defense Commission in a pre-convention session that the Army had shrunk to the point where only two and one-third divisions actually were ready now for combat.

The United States needs 1,750,000 ground and air force personnel trained to fight on mobilization day in event of a future war, Collings said, adding he believed this number could be obtained only through a universal military training law.

In the convention sessions opening tomorrow, the Legion will focus its energies on national defense and international relations problems shelved in the two years since the end of World War II.

Forrestal On Program

James V. Forrestal, first United States Secretary of National Defense under the new unification law, will be a headliner at the convention's opening session tomorrow at Madison Square Garden.

A distinguished foreign guest also will address the opening session—Field Marshal Viscount Harold Alexander, Governor General of Canada and an outstanding British hero of the recent conflict.

Pre-convention arrivals already have indulged in free-wheeling high jinks at the expense of pedestrians and hotel lobby strollers. But some legion officers think this year's crowd will not hold a candle to the 1937 Legionnaires who tied up traffic in many sections of Manhattan and completely took over Times Square for their frolics.

Couple Loses Home; Sent Payments To Wrong Bank

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27 (AP) —An aged couple who lost their home because for two years they mistakenly sent their mortgage payments to the wrong bank appeared in police court today and explained they had made numerous attempts to move back in because they believed the house to be still theirs.

Stephen Zivich, 59, and his wife, Pauline, 54, were evicted in July but have refused to take their furniture from the lawn in front of their former home.

Probation officers said the Zivichs lost their home by foreclosure when their bank believed no payments on the house had been made. They had been sending the money via money order to another bank. These payments were returned each month, but the Zivichs apparently thought they were getting back receipts, their explanation before Municipal Judge John J. Busher indicated.

SCHOOLGIRL HELD—Ruth Alice McLaren (above), 15-year-old schoolgirl from Arcadia, Calif., was taken into custody in a hotel at Ann Arbor, Mich., yesterday after a beauty shop operator told police her tips exceeded the size of her bills. Police Chief Casper Enkemann said the girl had taken $2,400 from a family fruit jar to finance a runaway trip to Michigan and admitted spending all but $402 of the money since leaving her home August 18.

Grand Jury Returns Realtor Indictments

Anti-Trust Laws Reported Violated

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The government's war on ballooning living costs produced criminal charges today that the National Association of Real Estate Boards and the Washington Real Estate Board violated the anti-trust laws.

Attorney General Clark announced that a federal grand jury had indicted the organizations on grounds they conspired to fix commission rates for real estate dealers in the District of Columbia. The maximum penalty is a $5,000 fine against each.

The announcement followed by 15 days an order by the Attorney General for the Justice Department's anti-trust division to track down and prosecute any conspiracies to maintain or boost the prices of food, clothing and housing.

Broad Implications

A grand jury here then began looking into real estate practices. While the indictment was restricted to charges of restraint of trade in Washington, there are broad implications.

H. Clifford Bangs, former president of the Washington Real Estate Board who was a grand jury witness yesterday, said transactions are being studied in such distant spots as Chicago and California.

Commenting on the indictment, Clark said in a statement:

"Our inquiry into the housing field indicates that artificial restraints on competition, such as those involved in this matter, bear a definite relation to present high housing costs."

The indictment charges that brokers' commissions on sales of houses have increased by 25 to 50 per cent.

The government also filed a civil anti-trust suit against the two real estate organizations, Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice president of the national association, and 15 members and directors of the Washington board.

Grand Jury Not Dismissed

This suit asks that provisions of the constitution and by-laws of the national association and Washington board which require or permit uniform commission fees be declared in violation of the Sherman (anti-trust) Act.

There was no immediate comment from the local offices of the national association. Nelson was reported en route from New York to Washington.

The association, with headquarters in Chicago, has a membership of 28,000 and is affiliated with some 800 local boards, like the one in Washington. The latter has about 250 members.

The grand jury which returned the indictment was not dismissed. It was instructed to return for further sittings tomorrow.

ORDINANCE REQUIRES HEAD AND TAIL LIGHTS ON HORSES AT NIGHT

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., Aug. 27 —(AP)—The town board of Hempstead today passed an ordinance requiring riding horses to have a headlight visible 500 feet and a tail light visible 200 feet when taken for a canter at night.

The board said an unlit horse may mean a $100 fine or six months' jail term for Dobbin's owner.

Negro Kidnaping Suspect Caught

EASTON, Md., Aug. 27 — (AP) — Possemen today tracked down a 39-year-old negro charged with kidnaping and sought since he disappeared three weeks ago with a 15-year-old white girl.

State's Attorney Harry E. Clark, of Talbot County, announced the capture and said three state troopers caught the fugitive, Cornelius Ellsworth Whiting, when he attempted to flee from the rear door of a house near Skipton, 10 miles north of here.

State Police, county authorities, volunteer possemen and bloodhounds loaned by the New York State Police, started an intensive manhunt across Talbot and Queen Anne's Counties when the girl was rescued Sunday night.

After scouring the woods and swamps in the area north of here all day yesterday, the possemen lost Whiting's trail last night about 9 o'clock when a heavy thunderstorm broke.

Clark said the state police revealed a "tip" about the same time that Whiting could be found at the house near Skipton. Ten officers and a number of volunteers surrounded the place.

Sgt. James C. Latham entered the house. Troopers John H. Channell and Rowe Hart caught Whiting as he came through the back door.

The house was identified as the home of Whiting's father-in-law. When the kidnaping warrant was sworn out August 7, Deputy Sheriff Tom Stewart, of Talbot County, reported Mrs. Whiting had left her husband and returned to live with her parents because of his attentions to the girl. He said the couple apparently planned to elope.

EFFORTS TO RETRIEVE BODIES OF 32 KILLED IN CRASH ABANDONED

SEATTLE, Aug. 27 (AP) —Navy authorities announced abandonment today of further hazardous efforts to retrieve the bodies of 32 Marines from a 10,000-foot high Mount Rainier glacier where they perished in an air transport crash last December.

Capt. A. O. Rule, commanding officer of 13th Naval District air bases, announced the decision after receiving a letter from several of the victims' parents, suggesting that the recovery efforts be dropped because of the extreme hazards involved and that "the vicinity be properly posted to defeat any efforts of curious and uninterested parties who enter near this hallowed area."

Pvt. Harry Kenneth Skinner, brother of Mrs. Ruth Lease, 606 Hill Street, Cumberland, and son of Mrs. Mary Edna Skinner, Confluence, Pa., was among victims of the crash.

Tsaldaris Finds Support Ebbing; May Step Down

Schedules Meeting To Discuss Coalition

ATHENS, Greece, Thursday, Aug. 28 (AP)—Premier-designate Constantin Tsaldaris announced today he would meet with political leaders who participated in the recently-resigned cabinet of Demetrios Maximos to examine the possibility of forming a coalition government for Greece.

Observers interpreted Tsaldaris' statement as meaning he had accepted the principle that a neutral Premier would have to be named to organize such a coalition. Six Greek political leaders earlier had gone before King Paul and proposed the selection of a neutral to break Greece's paralyzing governmental deadlock.

Support for Tsaldaris' efforts to form a strictly rightist government withered sharply yesterday.

Difficulties Predicted

Observers pointed out that serious difficulties may arise later today when party leaders meet with Tsaldaris and begin discussing the allocations of ministries for a new cabinet.

Gen. Napoleon Zervas, Minister of Public Order in the Maximos cabinet, has stuck with Tsaldaris during the crisis and is likely to be advanced by the Premier-designate as a nominee for the new government. This is expected to be unacceptable to the leaders of other parties. The Maximos cabinet collapsed because of an internal dispute partly centering on Zervas' ministry.

Greek political leaders have worked long hours to resolve the present crisis.

While they wrangled and maneuvered, the Communist-led guerrilla radio in a broadcast declared "democratic army" bands in the north had "liberated 100 villages" and occupied more than 350 square miles of territory in Epirus, Macedonia and Thessaly in the last five days. The guerrilla operations centered on Mounts Grambala, northeast of Ioannina; Txoumerkas, southeast of Ioannina in the Southern Pindus range, and Agrafa.

Tsaldaris' Support Ebbs

Tsaldaris, who earlier in the fourth day of the crisis had announced his determination to go ahead with formation of a government of his own choosing after failure to draw in Centrist leaders in a broader coalition cabinet, found his support dwindling rapidly.

At a meeting of opposition leaders, King Paul declared he agreed with them that a one-sided government such as Tsaldaris now was attempting to form would be "prejudicial" to the national interests, but he declined to intervene unless they came forward with agreement on a concrete proposal.

LCI Flying Honduran Flag Detained At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Aug. 27—(AP)—The Evening Sun said Baltimore had been reported to be an assembly area for "an eventual move through Cuban waters against the Dominican Republic."

The Sun said an investigation of an infantry landing craft flying a Honduran flag in Baltimore harbor showed the "crew" to be composed of more than 40 political opponents of Rafael L. Trujillo, president of the West Indian country.

The ship was detained by customs authorities here in accordance with a request from the State Department.

Will Address Defense Meet Next Tuesday

President Will Try Out His New Plane

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP) — President Truman will leave here in his new airplane Sunday for Rio de Janeiro, where he will address the Inter-American Conference on Tuesday.

The Chief Executive will be a guest of the Brazilian government until the following Sunday. Then he will board the battleship Missouri to cruise back to the United States, with a possible stop at San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross announced the plans tonight, leaving some details to be filed in later from the Brazilian capital.

Making the trip with Mr. Truman will be Mrs. Truman, their daughter Margaret, Carlos Martins, Brazilian Ambassador to this country, and his wife, and nearly a dozen White House officials.

One of the big events in which the President will participate will be the celebration on Sunday, September 7, of the 125th anniversary of Brazilian independence.

Speaks Around Noon Tuesday

Ross said the President will address the Inter-American Conference on hemispheric defense around noon on Tuesday, then hold a reception aboard the Missouri later in the afternoon for Brazilian government officials and delegates to the meeting.

Wednesday and Thursday will be left open for rest and sight-seeing. President Dutra, of Brazil, will give a state dinner for his visitor on Friday, September 5. Mr. Truman will return the dinner at the American Embassy the next night.

Mr. Truman's official residence in Rio will be Laranjeiras Palace, an $8,000,000 official residence for visiting dignitaries, three and a half miles from the center of the city.

Mr. Truman will go flying down to Rio in the new "Independence" which replaces the old presidential plane, the "Sacred Cow." It will be the Chief Executive's first flight in the new ship, piloted by Lt. Col. Henry T. Myers.

Overnight Stop At Trinidad

The departure from Washington is set for 8 a. m. (EST). The plane is due about 3 p. m. (EST) at Trinidad for an overnight stop. Mr. Truman will leave Trinidad around 3 or 4 a. m., arriving five or six hours later for an hour's refueling stop at Belen, on the northern tip of Brazil.

The "Independence" will set down at Nicteroi, across Guanabara Bay from Rio. The President and his party will cross the bay by boat for an official welcome to the Latin American nation at the Touring Club landing dock. He will arrive at the dock at 3 p. m., Rio time.

President and Senhora Dutra and other government officials will greet the visiting American Chief Executive there.

Committee Approves Treaty

QUITANDINHA, Brazil, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Inter-American Conference gave full committee approval today to eight articles on aggression—termed the "heart" of the treaty on hemisphere defense—and the United States pressed for a security zone stretching from pole to pole.

Martin Election Charge "Ridiculous," Union Says

BALTIMORE, Aug. 27 (AP) — The United Auto Workers (CIO) today said a request by management to have set aside a National Labor Relations Board bargaining election at the Glenn L. Martin airplane plant was "ridiculous."

The company yesterday asked the NLRB to void last Thursday's election on grounds that the workers were "intimidated, coerced and threatened."

"The company campaigned against the union and Glenn L. Martin personally pleaded for no union votes," said E. J. Moran, UAW assistant regional director. "The result was a meager 15 per cent for no union and now comes the company pleading that no union be certified."

Congress Group Probing High Prices Schedules Visits To Eastern Cities

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Senate-House Economic Committee tonight scheduled visits to cities from New Hampshire to Georgia as a part of the nationwide inquiry into high prices which Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) declared are "retarding production."

"The consuming power of America is beyond the imagination of those business executives who are retarding production by holding prices up," O'Mahoney told newsmen.

"Steel executives who are unwilling to expand steel capacity to meet perfectly obvious demands seem to entertain the same doubts about the capability of the capitalistic system that are expressed by Mr. Stalin," he continued.

"The thing most needed is the comprehension on the part of business leaders that the American market has not been scratched."

Hearings by three congressional subcommittees will be held almost simultaneously in the East, Midwest and West. The groups have been directed by Congress to go out into the field, get first-hand testimony from the public on causes of high prices and their possible effects on the nation's economic machine, and then recommend any legislation they think necessary.

A statement issued by the office of Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), chairman, said the eastern sub-group will begin its hearings September 15 at Providence, R. I., with the rest of the week to be spent "in or near Boston."

Other hearings will be held at Philadelphia, September 30; Richmond, Va., October 7; and Atlanta, October 14.

U. N. Plans To Arrest Two Egyptians If They Try To Crash Climax Debate

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 27—(AP)—Security Council delegates huddled in a series of private conferences tonight on the eve of decision in the long-debated Anglo-Egyption case which has been marked by two unprecedented spectator outbursts in the council chamber.

Russia and Colombia, holding what may prove to be the trump cards, still had not tipped their hands in the case and were regarded as the key figures in the vote, expected tomorrow.

As delegates lined up for the balloting, Secretary-General Trygve Lie announced emphatically that the two Egyptian demonstrators tossed out of the chamber last Friday and again on Tuesday were barred from entering the United Nations grounds henceforth.

"If it happens again we will have to give them over to the police," Lie said tersely in commenting on the demonstration staged yesterday by Ahmed Kamel Kotb and Mustafa Momen, who describe themselves as Egyptian Nationalists.

Council President Faris El Khoury, of Syria, an Arab state like Egypt, also issued instructions that the pair must be kept out of "the Security Council area."

Frank Begley, chief of the United Nations Security Police, said special guards would be posted at all gates to meet the challenge of the two that they would be back for the final voting session scheduled to start at 10:30 a. m. (EDT).

Truman Board Says Security Depends On It

Proposes Spending Two Billions Year

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP) — A proposal that the nation spend more than $2,000,000,000 a year by 1957 for scientific research as a major factor "in national survival" was made today in a report to President Truman.

Measures To Save $912,000,000 Year

LONDON, Aug. 27—(AP)—Britain sliced her scanty food ration thinner, banned pleasure motoring and outlawed foreign travel for most of her citizens today in a series of sweeping moves to keep her dollarless economy off the rocks.

No. 10 Downing Street, Prime Minister Attlee's official residence, announcing the cuts while the Premier was away on vacation, estimated the measures would save 228,000,000 pounds ($912,000,000) in the next year—more than a third of Britain's 600,000,000 ($2,400,000,000) annual deficit between exports and imports.

"Pretty grim" was the typical reaction of the British "little man" and his wife to the news that their present weekly meat ration—which allows about two pork chops apiece—was being cut by one-seventh, that their cherished tea ration would be held to two ounces a week, and their occasional drive into the country a thing of the past.

Second Cut In Meat Ration

The meat ration was sliced to one shilling's worth (20 cents) a week—two pence (four cents) thinner than it ever was during the war. This was the second cut. It was reduced to one shilling, two pence—the wartime level—after the fuel shortage last spring.

The tea ration, already a source of complaint to tea-loving Britons, was frozen at the lowest level it reached during the darkest days of the war.

The basic gasoline ration was abolished completely.

This meant a complete ban on pleasure motoring after October 1. Until now the allowance had permitted Britons to drive 180 miles a month. The allowance recently was reduced from 270 miles. As in wartime, Britons now will be able to use automobiles only for essential purposes by obtaining priority gasoline.

A slash of 15 to 18 per cent was ordered in food supplies now used by restaurants and hotels, which millions depend upon to supplement rations at home. The period which a person can stay at a hotel without surrendering his ration book was reduced from four days to two.

Ban On Travel Funds

The import of certain luxury foods, to be announced later, was prohibited.

In addition, the announcement said, "steps are being taken to limit the number of, and attendance at, public luncheons and dinners."

Foreign travel for pleasure after October 1 was stopped by a ban on funds for that purpose. Cook's Travel Agency estimated that the regulation had blighted the hopes of 100,000 Britons who had hoped to "get away from it all" by going to the continent for winter sports. Now they will have to go to Eire, the Channel Islands or other places in the Sterling area, or stay home.

Majority Of U. N. Atom Group OKs Basis Of Report

USSR Takes No Part In Drafting Papers

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 27—(AP)—A majority of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission agreed today on general principles for operating an international atomic control agency which have been advocated by the United States.

This meant that, in effect, the commission has approved the skeleton of its second report to the United Nations Security Council, due by September 15.

Russia took no part in drafting these principles and has frequently expressed opposition to several of them.

Some delegates made general statements. Then they showed no sign of speaking further until Russia is heard. They sat silently when the chairman, Capt. Alvaro Alberto, of Brazil, repeatedly offered the floor to any delegate.

Gromyko To Speak Friday

Andrei A. Gromyko, of Russia, finally said he would speak Friday.

Frederick H. Osborn, United States atomic deputy, told the commission's Political Committee today that his government "is fully prepared to accept" working papers which have been drawn up by subcommittees in preparation for the second report.

China and Brazil added their approval.

Britain, France, Canada and Australia said they agreed with the general principles but said they had some further suggestions to make. Belgium did not speak today but a member of the delegation said later that the Belgians already had indicated their approval.

Realistic Europe Aid Plan Wanted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The State Department, obviously concerned over reports that Europe may ask more than $29,000,000,000 from the United States under the Marshall plan, served notice today that the European recovery program must be reasonable and realistic.

Undersecrtary of State Robert A. Lovett told reporters that the United States is looking to the 16-nation Paris conference to produce such a program. It should, he said, call for diminishing demands year by year on American aid.

Earlier, the State Department dispatched George F. Kennan, head of Secretary Marshall's policy planning board, by plane to Paris with the latest American ideas on future aid.

The Marshall plan called for Europe to draw up a plan to get on its feet economically, and pledged that the United States would stand ready to give any assistance feasible.

Sixteen nations are in conference in Paris, appraising their own ability to help themselves and working on an estimate of how much American assistance will be needed

Diplomatic authorities said they have pushed a preliminary calculation past $29,000,000,000.

Some officials say any such sum is unrealistic because of the need of winning approval of any additional spending for foreign relief from an economy-conscious Congress.

Head For Scotland

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 27 (AP)—George Truman, Los Angeles, and Cliff Evans, Washington, left Keflavik Airport, 30 miles southwest of Reykjavik, for Prestwick Scotland, at 8:55 p. m., (4:55 p. m., Eastern Standard Time) today on the next leg of their round-the-world flight in two light sport planes.

Legion Group Tosses Blast At Communism

Calls For Support Of Marshall Plan

NEW YORK, Aug. 27—(AP)—The American Legion's Foreign Relations Committee blasted Communism as "the greatest menace in the field of international relations facing America" in a report issued late today on the eve of the Legion's 29th national convention.

The report, one of a series prepared by committees for guidance of the convention, mentioned no foreign state by name but it declared "the aggressive spread of Communism" was "fostered and promoted by a totalitarian state."

To combat Communism, the committee urged strong backing of the Marshall plan for aid to Europe, "control of the acute situation in the Balkans, coupled with a strengthening of the United Nations."

Record Encampment Predicted

Meanwhile, frolicking Legionnaires took over most of the city's hotels and fun spots as the convention opening neared, their ranks swelled by almost every arriving train, bus and plane.

Legion officials predicted the gathering will be the biggest ever, topping the record-setting encampment of 1937 when New York first entertained the veterans' organization.

Lt. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, the Army's acting deputy chief of staff, told the Legion National Defense Commission in a pre-convention session that the Army had shrunk to the point where only two and one-third divisions actually were ready now for combat.

The United States needs 1,750,000 ground and air force personnel trained to fight on mobilization day in event of a future war, Collings said, adding he believed this number could be obtained only through a universal military training law.

In the convention sessions opening tomorrow, the Legion will focus its energies on national defense and international relations problems shelved in the two years since the end of World War II.

Forrestal On Program

James V. Forrestal, first United States Secretary of National Defense under the new unification law, will be a headliner at the convention's opening session tomorrow at Madison Square Garden.

A distinguished foreign guest also will address the opening session—Field Marshal Viscount Harold Alexander, Governor General of Canada and an outstanding British hero of the recent conflict.

Pre-convention arrivals already have indulged in free-wheeling high jinks at the expense of pedestrians and hotel lobby strollers. But some legion officers think this year's crowd will not hold a candle to the 1937 Legionnaires who tied up traffic in many sections of Manhattan and completely took over Times Square for their frolics.

Couple Loses Home; Sent Payments To Wrong Bank

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27 (AP) —An aged couple who lost their home because for two years they mistakenly sent their mortgage payments to the wrong bank appeared in police court today and explained they had made numerous attempts to move back in because they believed the house to be still theirs.

Stephen Zivich, 59, and his wife, Pauline, 54, were evicted in July but have refused to take their furniture from the lawn in front of their former home.

Probation officers said the Zivichs lost their home by foreclosure when their bank believed no payments on the house had been made. They had been sending the money via money order to another bank. These payments were returned each month, but the Zivichs apparently thought they were getting back receipts, their explanation before Municipal Judge John J. Busher indicated.

SCHOOLGIRL HELD—Ruth Alice McLaren (above), 15-year-old schoolgirl from Arcadia, Calif., was taken into custody in a hotel at Ann Arbor, Mich., yesterday after a beauty shop operator told police her tips exceeded the size of her bills. Police Chief Casper Enkemann said the girl had taken $2,400 from a family fruit jar to finance a runaway trip to Michigan and admitted spending all but $402 of the money since leaving her home August 18.

Grand Jury Returns Realtor Indictments

Anti-Trust Laws Reported Violated

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The government's war on ballooning living costs produced criminal charges today that the National Association of Real Estate Boards and the Washington Real Estate Board violated the anti-trust laws.

Attorney General Clark announced that a federal grand jury had indicted the organizations on grounds they conspired to fix commission rates for real estate dealers in the District of Columbia. The maximum penalty is a $5,000 fine against each.

The announcement followed by 15 days an order by the Attorney General for the Justice Department's anti-trust division to track down and prosecute any conspiracies to maintain or boost the prices of food, clothing and housing.

Broad Implications

A grand jury here then began looking into real estate practices. While the indictment was restricted to charges of restraint of trade in Washington, there are broad implications.

H. Clifford Bangs, former president of the Washington Real Estate Board who was a grand jury witness yesterday, said transactions are being studied in such distant spots as Chicago and California.

Commenting on the indictment, Clark said in a statement:

"Our inquiry into the housing field indicates that artificial restraints on competition, such as those involved in this matter, bear a definite relation to present high housing costs."

The indictment charges that brokers' commissions on sales of houses have increased by 25 to 50 per cent.

The government also filed a civil anti-trust suit against the two real estate organizations, Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice president of the national association, and 15 members and directors of the Washington board.

Grand Jury Not Dismissed

This suit asks that provisions of the constitution and by-laws of the national association and Washington board which require or permit uniform commission fees be declared in violation of the Sherman (anti-trust) Act.

There was no immediate comment from the local offices of the national association. Nelson was reported en route from New York to Washington.

The association, with headquarters in Chicago, has a membership of 28,000 and is affiliated with some 800 local boards, like the one in Washington. The latter has about 250 members.

The grand jury which returned the indictment was not dismissed. It was instructed to return for further sittings tomorrow.

ORDINANCE REQUIRES HEAD AND TAIL LIGHTS ON HORSES AT NIGHT

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., Aug. 27 —(AP)—The town board of Hempstead today passed an ordinance requiring riding horses to have a headlight visible 500 feet and a tail light visible 200 feet when taken for a canter at night.

The board said an unlit horse may mean a $100 fine or six months' jail term for Dobbin's owner.

Negro Kidnaping Suspect Caught

EASTON, Md., Aug. 27 — (AP) — Possemen today tracked down a 39-year-old negro charged with kidnaping and sought since he disappeared three weeks ago with a 15-year-old white girl.

State's Attorney Harry E. Clark, of Talbot County, announced the capture and said three state troopers caught the fugitive, Cornelius Ellsworth Whiting, when he attempted to flee from the rear door of a house near Skipton, 10 miles north of here.

State Police, county authorities, volunteer possemen and bloodhounds loaned by the New York State Police, started an intensive manhunt across Talbot and Queen Anne's Counties when the girl was rescued Sunday night.

After scouring the woods and swamps in the area north of here all day yesterday, the possemen lost Whiting's trail last night about 9 o'clock when a heavy thunderstorm broke.

Clark said the state police revealed a "tip" about the same time that Whiting could be found at the house near Skipton. Ten officers and a number of volunteers surrounded the place.

Sgt. James C. Latham entered the house. Troopers John H. Channell and Rowe Hart caught Whiting as he came through the back door.

The house was identified as the home of Whiting's father-in-law. When the kidnaping warrant was sworn out August 7, Deputy Sheriff Tom Stewart, of Talbot County, reported Mrs. Whiting had left her husband and returned to live with her parents because of his attentions to the girl. He said the couple apparently planned to elope.

EFFORTS TO RETRIEVE BODIES OF 32 KILLED IN CRASH ABANDONED

SEATTLE, Aug. 27 (AP) —Navy authorities announced abandonment today of further hazardous efforts to retrieve the bodies of 32 Marines from a 10,000-foot high Mount Rainier glacier where they perished in an air transport crash last December.

Capt. A. O. Rule, commanding officer of 13th Naval District air bases, announced the decision after receiving a letter from several of the victims' parents, suggesting that the recovery efforts be dropped because of the extreme hazards involved and that "the vicinity be properly posted to defeat any efforts of curious and uninterested parties who enter near this hallowed area."

Pvt. Harry Kenneth Skinner, brother of Mrs. Ruth Lease, 606 Hill Street, Cumberland, and son of Mrs. Mary Edna Skinner, Confluence, Pa., was among victims of the crash.

Tsaldaris Finds Support Ebbing; May Step Down

Schedules Meeting To Discuss Coalition

ATHENS, Greece, Thursday, Aug. 28 (AP)—Premier-designate Constantin Tsaldaris announced today he would meet with political leaders who participated in the recently-resigned cabinet of Demetrios Maximos to examine the possibility of forming a coalition government for Greece.

Observers interpreted Tsaldaris' statement as meaning he had accepted the principle that a neutral Premier would have to be named to organize such a coalition. Six Greek political leaders earlier had gone before King Paul and proposed the selection of a neutral to break Greece's paralyzing governmental deadlock.

Support for Tsaldaris' efforts to form a strictly rightist government withered sharply yesterday.

Difficulties Predicted

Observers pointed out that serious difficulties may arise later today when party leaders meet with Tsaldaris and begin discussing the allocations of ministries for a new cabinet.

Gen. Napoleon Zervas, Minister of Public Order in the Maximos cabinet, has stuck with Tsaldaris during the crisis and is likely to be advanced by the Premier-designate as a nominee for the new government. This is expected to be unacceptable to the leaders of other parties. The Maximos cabinet collapsed because of an internal dispute partly centering on Zervas' ministry.

Greek political leaders have worked long hours to resolve the present crisis.

While they wrangled and maneuvered, the Communist-led guerrilla radio in a broadcast declared "democratic army" bands in the north had "liberated 100 villages" and occupied more than 350 square miles of territory in Epirus, Macedonia and Thessaly in the last five days. The guerrilla operations centered on Mounts Grambala, northeast of Ioannina; Txoumerkas, southeast of Ioannina in the Southern Pindus range, and Agrafa.

Tsaldaris' Support Ebbs

Tsaldaris, who earlier in the fourth day of the crisis had announced his determination to go ahead with formation of a government of his own choosing after failure to draw in Centrist leaders in a broader coalition cabinet, found his support dwindling rapidly.

At a meeting of opposition leaders, King Paul declared he agreed with them that a one-sided government such as Tsaldaris now was attempting to form would be "prejudicial" to the national interests, but he declined to intervene unless they came forward with agreement on a concrete proposal.

Will Address Defense Meet Next Tuesday

President Will Try Out His New Plane

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP) — President Truman will leave here in his new airplane Sunday for Rio de Janeiro, where he will address the Inter-American Conference on Tuesday.

The Chief Executive will be a guest of the Brazilian government until the following Sunday. Then he will board the battleship Missouri to cruise back to the United States, with a possible stop at San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross announced the plans tonight, leaving some details to be filled in later from the Brazilian capital.

Making the trip with Mr. Truman will be Mrs. Truman, their daughter Margaret, Carlos Martins, Brazilian Ambassador to this country, and his wife, and nearly a dozen White House officials.

One of the big events in which the President will participate will be the celebration on Sunday, September 7, of the 125th anniversary of Brazilian independence.

Speaks Around Noon Tuesday

Ross said the President will address the Inter-American Conference on hemispheric defense around noon on Tuesday, then hold a reception aboard the Missouri later in the afternoon for Brazilian government officials and delegates to the meeting.

Wednesday and Thursday will be left open for rest and sight-seeing. President Dutra, of Brazil, will give a state dinner for his visitor on Friday, September 5. Mr. Truman will return the dinner at the American Embassy the next night.

Mr. Truman's official residence in Rio will be Laranjeiras Palace, an $8,000,000 official residence for visiting dignitaries, three and a half miles from the center of the city.

Mr. Truman will go flying down to Rio in the new "Independence" which replaces the old presidential plane, the "Sacred Cow." It will be the Chief Executive's first flight in the new ship, piloted by Lt. Col. Henry T. Myers.

Overnight Stop At Trinidad

The departure from Washington is set for 8 a. m. (EST). The plane is due about 3 p. m. (EST) at Trinidad for an overnight stop. Mr. Truman will leave Trinidad around 3 or 4 a. m., arriving five or six hours later for an hour's refueling stop at Belen, on the northern tip of Brazil.

The "Independence" will set down at Nicteroi, across Guanabara Bay from Rio. The President and his party will cross the bay by boat for an official welcome to the Latin American nation at the Touring Club landing dock. He will arrive at the dock at 3 p. m., Rio time.

President and Senhora Dutra and other government officials will greet the visiting American Chief Executive there.

Committee Approves Treaty

QUITANDINHA, Brazil, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Inter-American Conference gave full committee approval today to eight articles on aggression—termed the "heart" of the treaty on hemisphere defense—and the United States pressed for a security zone stretching from pole to pole.

Martin Election Charge "Ridiculous," Union Says

BALTIMORE, Aug. 27 (AP) — The United Auto Workers (CIO) today said a request by management to have set aside a National Labor Relations Board bargaining election at the Glenn L. Martin airplane plant was "ridiculous."

The company yesterday asked the NLRB to void last Thursday's election on grounds that the workers were "intimidated, coerced and threatened."

"The company campaigned against the union and Glenn L. Martin personally pleaded for no union votes," said E. J. Moran, UAW assistant regional director. "The result was a meager 15 per cent for no union and now comes the company pleading that no union be certified."

U. N. Plans To Arrest Two Egyptians If They Try To Crash Climax Debate

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 27—(AP)—Security Council delegates huddled in a series of private conferences tonight on the eve of decision in the long-debated Anglo-Egyption case which has been marked by two unprecedented spectator outbursts in the council chamber.

Russia and Colombia, holding what may prove to be the trump cards, still had not tipped their hands in the case and were regarded as the key figures in the vote, expected tomorrow.

As delegates lined up for the balloting, Secretary-General Trygve Lie announced emphatically that the two Egyptian demonstrators tossed out of the chamber last Friday and again on Tuesday were barred from entering the United Nations grounds henceforth.

"If it happens again we will have to give them over to the police," Lie said tersely in commenting on the demonstration staged yesterday by Ahmed Kamel Kotb and Mustafa Momen, who describe themselves as Egyptian Nationalists.

Council President Faris El Khoury, of Syria, an Arab state like Egypt, also issued instructions that the pair must be kept out of "the Security Council area."

Frank Begley, chief of the United Nations Security Police, said special guards would be posted at all gates to meet the challenge of the two that they would be back for the final voting session scheduled to start at 10:30 a. m. (EDT).

LCI Flying Honduran Flag Detained At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Aug. 27—(AP)—The Evening Sun said Baltimore had been reported to be an assembly area for "an eventual move through Cuban waters against the Dominican Republic."

The Sun said an investigation of an infantry landing craft flying a Honduran flag in Baltimore harbor showed the "crew" to be composed of more than 40 political opponents of Rafael L. Trujillo, president of the West Indian country.

The ship was detained by customs authorities here in accordance with a request from the State Department.

Congress Group Probing High Prices Schedules Visits To Eastern Cities

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—The Senate-House Economic Committee tonight scheduled visits to cities from New Hampshire to Georgia as a part of the nationwide inquiry into high prices which Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) declared are "retarding production."

"The consuming power of America is beyond the imagination of those business executives who are retarding production by holding prices up," O'Mahoney told newsmen.

"Steel executives who are unwilling to expand steel capacity to meet perfectly obvious demands seem to entertain the same doubts about the capability of the capitalistic system that are expressed by Mr. Stalin," he continued.

"The thing most needed is the comprehension on the part of business leaders that the American market has not been scratched."

Hearings by three congressional subcommittees will be held almost simultaneously in the East, Midwest and West. The groups have been directed by Congress to go out into the field, get first-hand testimony from the public on causes of high prices and their possible effects on the nation's economic machine, and then recommend any legislation they think necessary.

A statement issued by the office of Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), chairman, said the eastern sub-group will begin its hearings September 15 at Providence, R. I., with the rest of the week to be spent "in or near Boston."

Other hearings will be held at Philadelphia, September 30; Richmond, Va., October 7; and Atlanta, October 14.

Greek Crisis Deepens As U. S. Aid Begins Functioning

Though it is difficult to say as yet whether its significance will be good or ill, the fall of the Maximos government of Greece comes at a fateful moment in that country's history.

The American pledge of $300,000,000 in aid under the Truman Doctrine, to rescue Greece from the threat of Soviet conquest, is just beginning to become effective. Even as the government at Athens was being torn apart by internal dissension, 50,000 tons of U. S. military supplies were enroute to Greek ports. At the same time, the guerrilla revolt led by Communist "Gen. Markos" in the mountainous north is being intensified, with more direct aid from the northern neighbors—and enemies—of Greece.

Last week it was disclosed that Stalin had invited the puppet dictators of Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania to Moscow to receive their orders. Shortly thereafter, "Gen. Markos" set up an "independent democratic" regime in the North. It looks like the old familiar European pattern of creating a diplomatic fiction as a cover for more direct aid to a rebellion. The ultimate end, of course, is to conquer Greece for Communism by internal and external pressure.

From the American standpoint, the late Maximos cabinet left a good deal to be desired. Though it represented leaders of all but the extreme left-wing parties in Greece—which had thrown in their lot with Greece's enemies—it contained too many elements of dubious honesty and evidently could not guarantee the most efficient use of American aid. The United States has been hoping for improvements but carefully refrained from any definite effort to bring them about. Naturally, it will now be said that Washington is responsible for the cabinet overturn. But it is significant that Foreign Minister Tsaldaris, just back from conversations in Washington, strenuously opposed any reshuffle at this time.

In view of its current seething confusion, all predictions about Greece would be reckless. But the political leaders in that country must realize that the supreme need today is for unity of all non-Communist forces. Their country has been made a stepping-stone in the Soviet Russian campaign to conquer Europe.

Europe is to get 500,000,000 bushels of American wheat, or $7 worth from every American citizen.

Co-Ops Inquiry Is Not An Inquisition, As Patman Holds

A nationwide investigation to learn "whether and to what extent tax-exempt privileges of co-operatives are harmful to free, competitive enterprise," has been undertaken by the Small Business subcommittee of the House of Representatives in Washington.

Because the committee has a Republican majority, as is proper in a House dominated by the G. O. P., it has been attacked by the ranking Democratic member, Representative Wright Patman of Texas. Patman, who headed the same committee when the Democrats controlled Congress, denounces this inquiry as an "inquisition" and accuses the committee of trying to destroy co-operatives.

While there can be no doubt that Mr. Patman used the committee as a demagogic sounding-board and a means of political fence-building when he was in control, nothing is to be gained by exchanging smears today. The House committee is not setting out to destroy co-operatives. These have their function in the American economic scheme of things, especially in the shape of farm co-ops, and have been granted special privileges under the law. There is evidence that some of those privileges have been abused. Democrats as well as Republicans in Congress have charged that certain co-ops enjoy unfair advantage through tax-exemption. Insofar as this may be true, the public is actually paying for the benefits of co-operative enterprise.

One of the traditional arguments in favor of co-operatives is that they enable individual buyers or sellers to overcome the advantages of quasi-monopolistic practices in big business. Yet in Greenbelt, Maryland, a Federal housing project which contains 8,000 persons on the outskirts of Washington, it is charged that the co-operative enjoys an absolute monopoly over all local business.

The House has a legitimate interest in investigating the whole question. It is not prejudging the case. It is trying to get information of value to the American public. That is one of the duties of Congress.

The Indian was smart in having his summer after things cooled off a bit.

To The Ladies

Only a man with the brain of a newt would underestimate the power of a woman—or the influence of the American stenographer upon the economic life of the nation.

Yet with all their power and influence, there is detected at times a certain querulousness among these toiling paragons of The Sex. They complain that men mumble, stammer, rave on without thinking, or start dictating in the closing minutes of the working day, and accuse them of a variety of malfeasances, of which they undoubtedly are guilty.

Reflect, however, upon the discovery of Lin Yutang, the Chinese author and philosopher. He has been relatively quiescent since 1942, when he already was predicting World War III, but now he has developed a Chinese typewriter which he says is a great improvement over present machines. It prints 90,000 characters.

Now there are vagaries to consider in the Chinese language: "Pu" is pronounced somewhat like a restrained boo, but "p'u" is what the stenog types if the boss says "pooh!" The word "shih" (like the "shi" in shirt) may mean anything from "to swear" or "to look at"—to "a corpse." And the tone a man imparts to a word is as much a part of the word as the sound itself.

Lin hopes to attain the stature of a Gutenberg through his machine's contribution to Chinese progress. But look what occidental man did for you, ladies, with only 26 letters—plus a handful of punctuation marks to lend confusion.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

GLANDULAR FEVER (INFECTIOUS MONONUCLEOSIS)

IT HAS been said that the more we learn, the less we understand. That is true in the field of medicine especially with such disorders as infectious mononucleosis [glandular fever]. Physicians could lecture for hours on this disturbance but would be stumped by the first listener who asked: "Doctor, just what is this disease?"

It all started 50 odd years ago when a German physician noted that the spleen and the glands throughout the body would enlarge in certain children who were suffering from sore throat; also, the blood contained many abnormal cells which were not present in individuals with ordinary colds. Since these finds were distinctive, it was only logical to assume that a new malady existed. This debutante had all the characteristics of an infection involving not only the respiratory passages but also the glandular system.

Thus infectious mononucleosis was born and today the ailment is suspected in any person, young or old, who develops what appears to be a lingering cold associated with weakness and enlargement of the glands. At first the throat becomes sore and raspy because the membranes are swollen and red. There is usually an associated feeling of malaise, headache, and loss of appetite. Then the temperature rises although the elevation is more erratic than high and rarely exceeds 101 degrees F. But fever may continue for days, weeks, or months, being present one day and not the next. Meanwhile the glands on the side or back of the neck enlarge and frequently become tender. The same occurs to the spleen.

This is the extent of the disease in the majority of patients. A few, however, exhibit abdominal distress with nausea and vomiting. Now and then the liver is affected, producing jaundice. A rash resembling measles has appeared in a small percentage and cases have been observed in which infection spreads to the brain, bringing on all of the symptoms of meningitis or encephalitis. But in spite of such manifestations the outlook is good and in time every one gets well.

The importance of determining the true situation rests in the fact that glandular fever mimics so many other conditions. The victim becomes worried when his "cold" does not disappear and the temperature reading remains high. Many imagine the worst and begin to think of tuberculosis or cancer. Furthermore, these fears are heightened when the sulfonamides and penicillin are unsuccessful. Diagnosis is made by studying the blood under the microscope and doing a special agglutination test.

But the illness remains perplexing because we do not know the cause. Is it a respiratory disease or are the glands at fault? In all probability the explanation is the existence of a peculiar blood and lymph gland response to a certain type of micro-organism. The exact invader will undoubtedly be discovered some day, and at the present time it is thought to be one of the viruses. This theory is substantiated further by the observation that neither the sulfas nor the antibiotics are helpful. By remaining in bed, recovery is hastened. Ultimately, fever subsides and the feeling of well being returns.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

As I write this, the beautiful strains of "Bloop Bleep" are booming from my radio, wrinkling the wallpaper and rocking Whistler's mother right out of her chair. This novelty song craze, which has even the squares going in circles, all started with that mad tune, "The Music Goes Round and Round." That bit of melodious discord was probably written under the influence of a five-cent cigar, also a thing of the past.

I don't quite know why these songs are created. They sound as though the composer caught his thumb in a door jamb and had his partner play the accompaniment. Why, just last winter "Open The Door, Richard" sold two million copies . . . not to mention three million pairs of earmuffs.

But "Bloop Bleep" really got me in its spell. This seven-year itch in four-quarter time was adapted from a serious composition by Frank Loesser, who originally composed it for the Philadelphia symphony. At that time it was known as "Tone Poems For Two Oboes, Clarinet and Monkey Wrench."

Why can't these songwriters leave me alone? I'm a guy who happens to like leaky faucets . . . I enjoy the sound of clanking milk bottles, and I really don't want that guy upstairs to drop that other shoe. But I guess everything will be all right . . . The padding for the walls just arrived.

London Readies New Greek "Crisis" For United States; Former Housing Expediter Emphasises Point; Dewey Backers In Wisconsin Annoyed

Says ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Another disquieting Greek "crisis" is in the works behind the scenes.

The new hot potato will probably be laid in the U. S. lap soon after the reorganized Greek Government takes office. The laying will be done by London.

The Attlee Government is quietly preparing to pull out the bulk of its troops from Greece, and thus compel the U. S. to carry the burden of policing the strife-torn country as well as feeding and rebuilding it.

The British have around 12,000 troops in Greece; the U. S. only a few hundred,, chiefly specialists.

The Attlee Government plans to withdraw all but a token force, on the ground of poverty. Under the economy program announced by Exchequer Chancellor Hugh Dalton, the British will demobilize 80,000 men. A large portion of them will come from Greece and Italy.

The British have 30,000 in the latter country. Chief reason for last week's suddenly announced change in U. S. plans to pull out of Italy was warning from Downing Street of intention to withdraw.

Establishment of a considerable U. S. force in Greece will still further increase U. S. expenditures there. This cost, however, will not be charged up to the $300,000,000 Greek aid-fund voted by Congress. It will appear on War Department books.

Note: The British are using the threat to withdraw troops from the European cockpit as a potent cudgel to pressure concessions from the U. S. During the recent negotiations over easing the terms of the U. S. loan, the British delegation intimated they may have to withdraw their troops from Germany.

Significant Difference

President Truman's list of White House callers last week was significant for its emphasis on Democratic politics. The list included Senators Claude Pepper, Fla., Harley Kilgore, W. Va., ex-Senator James Huffman, O., and Wilson Wyatt, former Federal Housing Expediter.

A leader of the anti-communist, liberal Americans for Democratic Action, Wyatt had not seen the President since last winter when the Kentuckian resigned after a row with George Allen, then RFC Director, over inadequate financial support for Wyatt's housing plans. The President and Wyatt did not discuss housing during the call. They talked Democratic politics.

"That was a very fine speech you made in Chicago against a third party," the President complimented. "When you said a third party would help NAM and the communists, you hit it right on the head."

Wyatt remarked he thought Democratic prospects looked promising for 1948.

"Yes," the President nodded in agreement, "I think our candidates have an excellent chance to win."

"From what I've observed," replied Wyatt, quietly, "I would say the outlook is very good for liberal candidates to win."

"Must" Reading

A sizzling article in Collier's Magazine, published tomorrow, charges loose-talking Army and Navy brasshats with considerable responsibility for the failure of enactment of universal military training . . . Dr. Henry H. Kessler, former Navy Captain and leading U. S. authority on converting the stumps of arm amputees to "muscle motors" to manipulate prostheses, has published an absorbing book on the procedure titled "Cineplasty." . . . Top on the list of books in demand at the Congressional Library are, "Reilly of the White House," lively, revealing account of life in the White House under the Roosevelts; "Our Fair City," scorching expose of boodlers and misrule in U. S. cities; "The Island War," thrilling history of Marine Corps battles in the Pacific . . . Louis Sobol, veteran Broadway reporter, will shortly publish a colorful biography under the title "Some Days Were Happy" with a foreword by his fellow-Broadwayite, Gene Fowler.

"Stop Dewey" Movement

Wisconsin backers of Governor Tom Dewey are getting hot under the collar over a "MacArthur for President" boom being vigorously pushed in the state. They are charging the boom is actually a "Stop Dewey" plot.

The Badger State's Presidential primary next spring is the first in the nation. Because of this, and the fact that Minnesota's hustling Harold Stassen has openly challenged Dewey for the Wisconsin endorsement, the New Yorker is very much on the spot. If he loses the test, he may find himself in Wendell Willkie's unhappy predicament in the 1944 fight.

That year, Dewey challenged Willkie in the Wisconsin primary and won. A week later, Willkie threw in the sponge and quit the GOP race. That eliminated Dewey's only formidable opponent and opened the way for his subsequent easy victory at the Chicago convention.

MacArthur, 67, claims Wisconsin as his home state. He lived there briefly years ago. He has been telling Tokyo visitors that when he retires he plans to take up permanent residence in Milwaukee. The city council has discussed a proposal to present him with an estate.

An active behind-the-scenes leader in the "MacArthur for President" boom is ex-Governor Phil LaFollette, who served on the MacArthur staff in the Pacific. Now practicing law in Madison, Phil is strongly anti-Dewey. Another leader who has indicated interest is Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman. One of the canniest politicos in Wisconsin, Zimmerman backed Dewey in 1944. If he should board the MacArthur wagon, it would be a major blow for Dewey. Zimmerman is noted for his skill in lining up with winners.

Note: Several leading Wisconsin newspapers have caustically assailed the MacArthur boom on the ground it is backed by "reactionary" elements.

Ford, When He Boosted Car Prices, Created A Landmark

By MARK SULLIVAN

Mr. Henry Ford 2d, when he increased prices of his cars last Saturday, created a landmark. Seven months before, last January, he had reduced prices. Just what happened between January and August to make Mr. Ford reverse? The answer is not primarily in Mr. Ford's mind or circumstances. It lies in, and composes an essential pattern of America's post-war economic era.

The reduction of Ford prices last January was a step in resistance to the inflation and threat of more that had alarmed the country. The step was taken, Mr. Ford said, "as a shock treatment . . . to halt the insane spiral of mounting cost and rising prices." The step cheered the country. Among much congratulation and acclaim, Mr. John R. Steelman, assistant to President Truman, sent a message to Mr. Ford saying "Your announcement of price reductions is good news to the country."

There were at the time some other developments that seemed to reflect a check in inflation, among them a drop in prices of food, including one of over 30 cents a pound in the price of butter within three weeks. The apparent tendency of commodity prices was reflected in a Wall Street Journal headline, "crumbling prices." All led to a feeling of victory over the battle to, in President Roosevelt's slogan, "hold the line against inflation." During January, Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board, taking account of several developments and expressing a belief that was common, said he thought that "inflation has largely run its course."

Many Causes For It

What happened to dissolve that hope and belief of last January? There were many causes, not easy to study with exactness nor to disentangle from each other, they operated as a whole. But among all the causes there was one series of steps that operated most directly toward the necessity which last week led Mr. Ford to reverse his course and announce an increase in prices.

Among conditions that last January led to expectation of a check to rising costs in industry was the November election and the knowledge that the Republican Congress which took control in January would enact new labor legislation. It was expected that the new legislation, whatever its details, would give industry a more even break in labor relations and in disputes over demands by labor unions and leaders. There was in fact a psychological effect on many labor leaders, they became less strident in utterances and action.

Nevertheless CIO made a broad demand for a 25 per cent wage increase in major industries. In January it was announced that in the steel industry negotiations between CIO head Philip Murray and steel industry leaders were about to begin. After some delay the negotiations went on during March, and in April a wage raise in steel industry was announced. There was not, at the time, any increase in the price of steel.

In June negotiations took place between Mr. John L. Lewis for the United Mine Workers and heads of the coal industry, the latter including the United States Steel Corporation.

On July 8th a wage increase was announced. Immediately came increases in the price of coal, and simultaneously or a little later, lasting throughout July, came increases in the price of steel.

Effects of Price Boosts Widespread

Steel and coal are so basic that increased prices of them have widespread effects on industry generally. The effect on the automobile industry was especially large and direct. Car manufacturers found their cost increased by higher prices of steel, and further increases in the cost of automobile materials and parts into which steel enters. Car costs were further increased by wage raises which car manufacturers had themselves made. Announcements of increases in the prices of cars came during late July and August. General Motors announced that of the materials that go to make up the cost of their car there had been in materially less than a year increases of 17 per cent in the cost of steel, 22 per cent in coal, 29 per cent in pigiron, 26 per cent in copper, 22 per cent in tin, 43 per cent in lead, 23 per cent in cotton, 12 per cent in wool.

The increase in Ford cars, conspicuous because of its contrast with the reductions Mr. Ford had made in January, marked a dividing point between two periods of the country's post-war economic cycle.

Legal Advice On Labor Law Can Sometimes Prove Very Costly

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 — Legal advice sometimes can prove costly to the man who wants his lawyer to tell him it is all right to do the things he wants to do even though the law seems to forbid it.

The International Typographical Union must have had some legal advice of its own before it announced that it would forbid its local unions to sign contracts as provided under the Taft-Hartley Act. It appears that just the opposite advice has been given to the employing printers of the country. Gerard D. Reilly, formerly the special counsel for the Senate labor committee and the man credited with writing the major provisions of the new labor law, has written a memorandum for the Printing Industry of America, Inc., which deals, among other things, with the idea that "conditions of employment" will be forced on employers without written contracts. Mr. Reilly writes:

"Some unions have indicated that they will avoid the impact of the act by avoiding written contracts. Instead they propose to reach an agreement with management pursuant to which both parties will understand that no non-union men are to be employed or retained. While the new act does not make such informal understandings illegal per se, an employer runs the eventual risk of being cited for an 'unfair labor practice' if he enters into such an arrangement.

Risks Unfair Labor Practice

"If a non-union man is denied employment or discharged under such circumstances, an employer would have no defense whatsoever to an 'unfair labor practice' complaint and the board could order him to reinstate the aggrieved employee with back pay. Nor would it be a defense that such discrimination was made pursuant to a strike or threat of strike. Unions are likewise prohibited from engaging in such compulsion with respect to employees not covered by union shop agreements made in compliance with the new law."

At the recent ITU convention, there were adopted rules declaring that printers who do not obey their union officers or local unions which are recalcitrant can be expelled. Mr. Reilly says on this point:

"If an employer has reason to believe that a man was refused membership in a union or was ousted from membership, on some ground other than his refusal or failure to pay the dues and initiation fees required uniformly of all members, the union shop agreement becomes inapplicable to such an employee. Therefore, if the employer discharges him upon the union's request, both the employer and the union engage in an 'unfair labor practice'."

On the subject of bargaining in good faith, Mr. Reilly makes this point:

"While the new act contains a definition of collective bargaining, it alters existing law in only one minor respect, viz., while bargaining in good faith is still required, the refusal to make a concession can no longer be deemed by the board a breach of this obligation.

"The most important addition to the law is that the act makes the duty to bargain bilateral, since it is now an 'unfair labor practice' for a union, if it is the certified or recognized representative, to fail to carry out its obligation to bargain.

"A common complaint of small companies in recent years has been that the national or international union after reaching an agreement with two or three of the dominant companies in an industry attempts to force this pattern upon all competing companies. Unions have been able to accomplish this by submitting 'master agreements' to competing employers on a take-it-or-leave-it basis. Under such circumstances, collective bargaining becomes a farce.

Employer Afforded Some Relief

"The new act would afford some relief to an employer confronted with a union ultimatum of this sort for he could file an unfair labor practice charge if the union representatives insisted upon pulling a strike without listening to his arguments or counter-proposals."

Mr. Reilley was a Roosevelt appointee to the National Labor Relations Board, from which he resigned a year ago. He is looked upon as the leading authority on the Taft-Hartley Act. His writings indicate that the ITU will be skating on thin ice if it tries to punish members who do not agree with their officers and if the union expels them and endeavors to get them fired from their jobs on the ground that they are not in good standing in their unions.

The points that have been overlooked by the ITU primarily in connection with the workings of the Taft-Hartley law relate to the rights of the individual printers to file damage suits if they lose their union cards and for third parties injured by illegal work stoppages to file suits against both unions and employers. A mere understanding between the union and employer may not be illegal in itself but it may last only as long as it isn't challenged in the courts by some aggrieved person.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

EISENHOWER

THE Republican Party, in search of a candidate to defeat Harry Truman, will open its door wide to numerous aspirants for the Presidency. It is polite, at this stage, for a candidate to avoid overt declaration of his hopes, unless he has none. The only really forward candidate is Harold Stassen. Taft, Dewey, Eisenhower, Vandenberg and others remain slightly coy.

Tom Dewey, who stands a fairly good chance of being nominated, took a westward-ho trip to visit his parents-in-law and his mother, to attend the Governors' Conference and to see the wild and woolly West. If, perchance, a political question arose, it was incidental and unrelated to the living or the dead. However, Mr. Dewey undoubtedly has a fair approximation of his strength and his weakness and knows pretty well what he needs to do to win. Senator Taft is about to take a similar trip.

The principal issue next year will be Robert A. Taft. No matter who runs, he will either become a defender of Taft, or Truman will back him into a corner. The candidate who will attempt to dodge the issue of Taft will have a tough time because what can he say about the Taft-Hartley Act if he wants to omit consideration of Taft, for better or for worse? The Republican issue was made in the Congress and there is no possible dodging that issue without strengthening Truman.

Thus, the platform has already been written and whoever is nominated by the Republicans must accept it as is, for no weasel words will change a syllable in the public mind. A single slighting of the Taft-Hartley Act or the tax bills will defeat any Republican who runs for the Presidency.

Nearly a year ago, nonchalantly I announced the candidacy of General Eisenhower for President. Some days later, a fine Washington correspondent reported that such announcements as I had made burned General Eisenhower up. Well, the General did not burn up seriously, for he is a candidate and has supporters. There is even a chance that he might be nominated. Any man can avoid being President by stopping a boom. Most men like booms.

The major difficulty of Eisenhower's candidacy is that nobody knows what he believes on any current question. Those who criticize Dewey for austere Coolidgian silence ought to look at Eisenhower's record. Maybe after he has become President of Columbia University, he will deliver addresses here and yon on this and that, so that the public can get a picture of his mind. But up-to-date the record is blank.

His principal advocates among the Republicans take the position that he does not need to declare himself on any subject because he can be elected without even making a speech. They insist that only two generals have come out of the war with popularity of political magnitude, MacArthur and Eisenhower. They assume that MacArthur will not run and that therefore all the weather-vanes point to Eisenhower.

That may be true now, but when the campaign is hot and the fight is furious, the candidate will be asked where he stands on the Taft-Hartley Act, on the reduction of income taxes and on the price of steak in the super-market. He will have to answer or he will go the way of Landon, Willkie and Dewey in previous campaigns.

Furthermore, the Republican candidate will have to criticize Mr. Truman's conduct of the foreign affairs of the United States since V-J Day. Just as Eisenhower would have to defend Taft on the domestic side, so he would have to attack Truman on foreign affairs. This Eisenhower could never do for he has been a party to all the raw deals that have been meted out to the United States since we went into partnership with the so-called peace-loving nations.

It would be wonderful if Eisenhower, as a candidate, spilled the beans which he, as an official, helped to gather. It would be an historically valuable incident. But it will not happen, for then Truman would ask, "And what were you doing and saying at the time, Ike?"

That's the trouble. Maybe that is why Eisenhower won't get it.

Greek Crisis Deepens As U. S. Aid Begins Functioning

Though it is difficult to say as yet whether its significance will be good or ill, the fall of the Maximos government of Greece comes at a fateful moment in that country's history.

The American pledge of $300,000,000 in aid under the Truman Doctrine, to rescue Greece from the threat of Soviet conquest, is just beginning to become effective. Even as the government at Athens was being torn apart by internal dissension, 50,000 tons of U. S. military supplies were enroute to Greek ports. At the same time, the guerrilla revolt led by Communist "Gen. Markos" in the mountainous north is being intensified, with more direct aid from the northern neighbors—and enemies—of Greece.

Last week it was disclosed that Stalin had invited the puppet dictators of Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania to Moscow to receive their orders. Shortly thereafter, "Gen. Markos" set up an "independent democratic" regime in the North. It looks like the old familiar European pattern of creating a diplomatic fiction as a cover for more direct aid to a rebellion. The ultimate end, of course, is to conquer Greece for Communism by internal and external pressure.

From the American standpoint, the late Maximos cabinet left a good deal to be desired. Though it represented leaders of all but the extreme left-wing parties in Greece—which had thrown in their lot with Greece's enemies—it contained too many elements of dubious honesty and evidently could not guarantee the most efficient use of American aid. The United States has been hoping for improvements but carefully refrained from any definite effort to bring them about. Naturally, it will now be said that Washington is responsible for the cabinet overturn. But it is significant that Foreign Minister Tsaldaris, just back from conversations in Washington, strenuously opposed any reshuffle at this time.

In view of its current seething confusion, all predictions about Greece would be reckless. But the political leaders in that country must realize that the supreme need today is for unity of all non-Communist forces. Their country has been made a stepping-stone in the Soviet Russian campaign to conquer Europe.

Europe is to get 500,000,000 bushels of American wheat, or $7 worth from every American citizen.

Co-Ops Inquiry Is Not An Inquisition, As Patman Holds

A nationwide investigation to learn "whether and to what extent tax-exempt privileges of co-operatives are harmful to free, competitive enterprise," has been undertaken by the Small Business subcommittee of the House of Representatives in Washington.

Because the committee has a Republican majority, as is proper in a House dominated by the G. O. P., it has been attacked by the ranking Democratic member, Representative Wright Patman of Texas. Patman, who headed the same committee when the Democrats controlled Congress, denounces this inquiry as an "inquisition" and accuses the committee of trying to destroy co-operatives.

While there can be no doubt that Mr. Patman used the committee as a demagogic sounding-board and a means of political fence-building when he was in control, nothing is to be gained by exchanging smears today. The House committee is not setting out to destroy co-operatives. These have their function in the American economic scheme of things, especially in the shape of farm co-ops, and have been granted special privileges under the law. There is evidence that some of those privileges have been abused. Democrats as well as Republicans in Congress have charged that certain co-ops enjoy unfair advantage through tax-exemption. Insofar as this may be true, the public is actually paying for the benefits of co-operative enterprise.

One of the traditional arguments in favor of co-operatives is that they enable individual buyers or sellers to overcome the advantages of quasi-monopolistic practices in big business. Yet in Greenbelt, Maryland, a Federal housing project which contains 8,000 persons on the outskirts of Washington, it is charged that the co-operative enjoys an absolute monopoly over all local business.

The House has a legitimate interest in investigating the whole question. It is not prejudging the case. It is trying to get information of value to the American public. That is one of the duties of Congress.

The Indian was smart in having his summer after things cooled off a bit.

To The Ladies

Only a man with the brain of a newt would underestimate the power of a woman—or the influence of the American stenographer upon the economic life of the nation.

Yet with all their power and influence, there is detected at times a certain querulousness among these toiling paragons of The Sex. They complain that men mumble, stammer, rave on without thinking, or start dictating in the closing minutes of the working day, and accuse them of a variety of malfeasances, of which they undoubtedly are guilty.

Reflect, however, upon the discovery of Lin Yutang, the Chinese author and philosopher. He has been relatively quiescent since 1942, when he already was predicting World War III, but now he has developed a Chinese typewriter which he says is a great improvement over present machines. It prints 90,000 characters.

Now there are vagaries to consider in the Chinese language: "Pu" is pronounced somewhat like a restrained boo, but "p'u" is what the stenog types if the boss says "pooh!" The word "shih" (like the "shi" in shirt) may mean anything from "to swear" or "to look at"—to "a corpse." And the tone a man imparts to a word is as much a part of the word as the sound itself.

Lin hopes to attain the stature of a Gutenberg through his machine's contribution to Chinese progress. But look what occidental man did for you, ladies, with only 26 letters—plus a handful of punctuation marks to lend confusion.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

GLANDULAR FEVER (INFECTIOUS MONONUCLEOSIS)

IT HAS been said that the more we learn, the less we understand. That is true in the field of medicine especially with such disorders as infectious mononucleosis [glandular fever]. Physicians could lecture for hours on this disturbance but would be stumped by the first listener who asked: "Doctor, just what is this disease?"

It all started 50 odd years ago when a German physician noted that the spleen and the glands throughout the body would enlarge in certain children who were suffering from sore throat; also, the blood contained many abnormal cells which were not present in individuals with ordinary colds. Since these finds were distinctive, it was only logical to assume that a new malady existed. This debutante had all the characteristics of an infection involving not only the respiratory passages but also the glandular system.

Thus infectious mononucleosis was born and today the ailment is suspected in any person, young or old, who develops what appears to be a lingering cold associated with weakness and enlargement of the glands. At first the throat becomes sore and raspy because the membranes are swollen and red. There is usually an associated feeling of malaise, headache, and loss of appetite. Then the temperature rises although the elevation is more erratic than high and rarely exceeds 101 degrees F. But fever may continue for days, weeks, or months, being present one day and not the next. Meanwhile the glands on the side or back of the neck enlarge and frequently become tender. The same occurs to the spleen.

This is the extent of the disease in the majority of patients. A few, however, exhibit abdominal distress with nausea and vomiting. Now and then the liver is affected, producing jaundice. A rash resembling measles has appeared in a small percentage and cases have been observed in which infection spreads to the brain, bringing on all of the symptoms of meningitis or encephalitis. But in spite of such manifestations the outlook is good and in time every one gets well.

The importance of determining the true situation rests in the fact that glandular fever mimics so many other conditions. The victim becomes worried when his "cold" does not disappear and the temperature reading remains high. Many imagine the worst and begin to think of tuberculosis or cancer. Furthermore, these fears are heightened when the sulfonamides and penicillin are unsuccessful. Diagnosis is made by studying the blood under the microscope and doing a special agglutination test.

But the illness remains perplexing because we do not know the cause. Is it a respiratory disease or are the glands at fault? In all probability the explanation is the existence of a peculiar blood and lymph gland response to a certain type of micro-organism. The exact invader will undoubtedly be discovered some day, and at the present time it is thought to be one of the viruses. This theory is substantiated further by the observation that neither the sulfas nor the antibiotics are helpful. By remaining in bed, recovery is hastened. Ultimately, fever subsides and the feeling of well being returns.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

As I write this, the beautiful strains of "Bloop Bleep" are booming from my radio, wrinkling the wallpaper and rocking Whistler's mother right out of her chair. This novelty song craze, which has even the squares going in circles, all started with that mad tune, "The Music Goes Round and Round." That bit of melodious discord was probably written under the influence of a five-cent cigar, also a thing of the past.

I don't quite know why these songs are created. They sound as though the composer caught his thumb in a door jamb and had his partner play the accompaniment. Why, just last winter "Open The Door, Richard" sold two million copies . . . not to mention three million pairs of earmuffs.

But "Bloop Bleep" really got me in its spell. This seven-year itch in four-quarter time was adapted from a serious composition by Frank Loesser, who originally composed it for the Philadelphia symphony. At that time it was known as "Tone Poems For Two Oboes, Clarinet and Monkey Wrench."

Why can't these songwriters leave me alone? I'm a guy who happens to like leaky faucets . . . I enjoy the sound of clanking milk bottles, and I really don't want that guy upstairs to drop that other shoe. But I guess everything will be all right . . . The padding for the walls just arrived.

London Readies New Greek "Crisis" For United States; Former Housing Expediter Emphasises Point; Dewey Backers In Wisconsin Annoyed

Says ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Another disquieting Greek "crisis" is in the works behind the scenes.

The new hot potato will probably be laid in the U. S. lap soon after the reorganized Greek Government takes office. The laying will be done by London.

The Attlee Government is quietly preparing to pull out the bulk of its troops from Greece, and thus compel the U. S. to carry the burden of policing the strife-torn country as well as feeding and rebuilding it.

The British have around 12,000 troops in Greece; the U. S. only a few hundred,, chiefly specialists.

The Attlee Government plans to withdraw all but a token force, on the ground of poverty. Under the economy program announced by Exchequer Chancellor Hugh Dalton, the British will demobilize 80,000 men. A large portion of them will come from Greece and Italy.

The British have 30,000 in the latter country. Chief reason for last week's suddenly announced change in U. S. plans to pull out of Italy was warning from Downing Street of intention to withdraw.

Establishment of a considerable U. S. force in Greece will still further increase U. S. expenditures there. This cost, however, will not be charged up to the $300,000,000 Greek aid-fund voted by Congress. It will appear on War Department books.

Note: The British are using the threat to withdraw troops from the European cockpit as a potent cudgel to pressure concessions from the U. S. During the recent negotiations over easing the terms of the U. S. loan, the British delegation intimated they may have to withdraw their troops from Germany.

Significant Difference

President Truman's list of White House callers last week was significant for its emphasis on Democratic politics. The list included Senators Claude Pepper, Fla., Harley Kilgore, W. Va., ex-Senator James Huffman, O., and Wilson Wyatt, former Federal Housing Expediter.

A leader of the anti-communist, liberal Americans for Democratic Action, Wyatt had not seen the President since last winter when the Kentuckian resigned after a row with George Allen, then RFC Director, over inadequate financial support for Wyatt's housing plans. The President and Wyatt did not discuss housing during the call. They talked Democratic politics.

"That was a very fine speech you made in Chicago against a third party," the President complimented. "When you said a third party would help NAM and the communists, you hit it right on the head."

Wyatt remarked he thought Democratic prospects looked promising for 1948.

"Yes," the President nodded in agreement, "I think our candidates have an excellent chance to win."

"From what I've observed," replied Wyatt, quietly, "I would say the outlook is very good for liberal candidates to win."

"Must" Reading

A sizzling article in Collier's Magazine, published tomorrow, charges loose-talking Army and Navy brasshats with considerable responsibility for the failure of enactment of universal military training . . . Dr. Henry H. Kessler, former Navy Captain and leading U. S. authority on converting the stumps of arm amputees to "muscle motors" to manipulate prostheses, has published an absorbing book on the procedure titled "Cineplasty." . . . Top on the list of books in demand at the Congressional Library are, "Reilly of the White House," lively, revealing account of life in the White House under the Roosevelts; "Our Fair City," scorching expose of boodlers and misrule in U. S. cities; "The Island War," thrilling history of Marine Corps battles in the Pacific . . . Louis Sobol, veteran Broadway reporter, will shortly publish a colorful biography under the title "Some Days Were Happy" with a foreword by his fellow-Broadwayite, Gene Fowler.

"Stop Dewey" Movement

Wisconsin backers of Governor Tom Dewey are getting hot under the collar over a "MacArthur for President" boom being vigorously pushed in the state. They are charging the boom is actually a "Stop Dewey" plot.

The Badger State's Presidential primary next spring is the first in the nation. Because of this, and the fact that Minnesota's hustling Harold Stassen has openly challenged Dewey for the Wisconsin endorsement, the New Yorker is very much on the spot. If he loses the test, he may find himself in Wendell Willkie's unhappy predicament in the 1944 fight.

That year, Dewey challenged Willkie in the Wisconsin primary and won. A week later, Willkie threw in the sponge and quit the GOP race. That eliminated Dewey's only formidable opponent and opened the way for his subsequent easy victory at the Chicago convention.

MacArthur, 67, claims Wisconsin as his home state. He lived there briefly years ago. He has been telling Tokyo visitors that when he retires he plans to take up permanent residence in Milwaukee. The city council has discussed a proposal to present him with an estate.

An active behind-the-scenes leader in the "MacArthur for President" boom is ex-Governor Phil LaFollette, who served on the MacArthur staff in the Pacific. Now practicing law in Madison, Phil is strongly anti-Dewey. Another leader who has indicated interest is Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman. One of the canniest politicos in Wisconsin, Zimmerman backed Dewey in 1944. If he should board the MacArthur wagon, it would be a major blow for Dewey. Zimmerman is noted for his skill in lining up with winners.

Note: Several leading Wisconsin newspapers have caustically assailed the MacArthur boom on the ground it is backed by "reactionary" elements.

Ford, When He Boosted Car Prices, Created A Landmark

By MARK SULLIVAN

Mr. Henry Ford 2d, when he increased prices of his cars last Saturday, created a landmark. Seven months before, last January, he had reduced prices. Just what happened between January and August to make Mr. Ford reverse? The answer is not primarily in Mr. Ford's mind or circumstances. It lies in, and composes an essential pattern of America's post-war economic era.

The reduction of Ford prices last January was a step in resistance to the inflation and threat of more that had alarmed the country. The step was taken, Mr. Ford said, "as a shock treatment . . . to halt the insane spiral of mounting cost and rising prices." The step cheered the country. Among much congratulation and acclaim, Mr. John R. Steelman, assistant to President Truman, sent a message to Mr. Ford saying "Your announcement of price reductions is good news to the country."

There were at the time some other developments that seemed to reflect a check in inflation, among them a drop in prices of food, including one of over 30 cents a pound in the price of butter within three weeks. The apparent tendency of commodity prices was reflected in a Wall Street Journal headline, "crumbling prices." All led to a feeling of victory over the battle to, in President Roosevelt's slogan, "hold the line against inflation." During January, Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board, taking account of several developments and expressing a belief that was common, said he thought that "inflation has largely run its course."

Many Causes For It

What happened to dissolve that hope and belief of last January? There were many causes, not easy to study with exactness nor to disentangle from each other, they operated as a whole. But among all the causes there was one series of steps that operated most directly toward the necessity which last week led Mr. Ford to reverse his course and announce an increase in prices.

Among conditions that last January led to expectation of a check to rising costs in industry was the November election and the knowledge that the Republican Congress which took control in January would enact new labor legislation. It was expected that the new legislation, whatever its details, would give industry a more even break in labor relations and in disputes over demands by labor unions and leaders. There was in fact a psychological effect on many labor leaders, they became less strident in utterances and action.

Nevertheless CIO made a broad demand for a 25 per cent wage increase in major industries. In January it was announced that in the steel industry negotiations between CIO head Philip Murray and steel industry leaders were about to begin. After some delay the negotiations went on during March, and in April a wage raise in steel industry was announced. There was not, at the time, any increase in the price of steel.

In June negotiations took place between Mr. John L. Lewis for the United Mine Workers and heads of the coal industry, the latter including the United States Steel Corporation.

On July 8th a wage increase was announced. Immediately came increases in the price of coal, and simultaneously or a little later, lasting throughout July, came increases in the price of steel.

Effects of Price Boosts Widespread

Steel and coal are so basic that increased prices of them have widespread effects on industry generally. The effect on the automobile industry was especially large and direct. Car manufacturers found their cost increased by higher prices of steel, and further increases in the cost of automobile materials and parts into which steel enters. Car costs were further increased by wage raises which car manufacturers had themselves made. Announcements of increases in the prices of cars came during late July and August. General Motors announced that of the materials that go to make up the cost of their car there had been in materially less than a year increases of 17 per cent in the cost of steel, 22 per cent in coal, 29 per cent in pigiron, 26 per cent in copper, 22 per cent in tin, 43 per cent in lead, 23 per cent in cotton, 12 per cent in wool.

The increase in Ford cars, conspicuous because of its contrast with the reductions Mr. Ford had made in January, marked a dividing point between two periods of the country's post-war economic cycle.

Legal Advice On Labor Law Can Sometimes Prove Very Costly

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 — Legal advice sometimes can prove costly to the man who wants his lawyer to tell him it is all right to do the things he wants to do even though the law seems to forbid it.

The International Typographical Union must have had some legal advice of its own before it announced that it would forbid its local unions to sign contracts as provided under the Taft-Hartley Act. It appears that just the opposite advice has been given to the employing printers of the country. Gerard D. Reilly, formerly the special counsel for the Senate labor committee and the man credited with writing the major provisions of the new labor law, has written a memorandum for the Printing Industry of America, Inc., which deals, among other things, with the idea that "conditions of employment" will be forced on employers without written contracts. Mr. Reilly writes:

"Some unions have indicated that they will avoid the impact of the act by avoiding written contracts. Instead they propose to reach an agreement with management pursuant to which both parties will understand that no non-union men are to be employed or retained. While the new act does not make such informal understandings illegal per se, an employer runs the eventual risk of being cited for an 'unfair labor practice' if he enters into such an arrangement.

Risks Unfair Labor Practice

"If a non-union man is denied employment or discharged under such circumstances, an employer would have no defense whatsoever to an 'unfair labor practice' complaint and the board could order him to reinstate the aggrieved employee with back pay. Nor would it be a defense that such discrimination was made pursuant to a strike or threat of strike. Unions are likewise prohibited from engaging in such compulsion with respect to employees not covered by union shop agreements made in compliance with the new law."

At the recent ITU convention, there were adopted rules declaring that printers who do not obey their union officers or local unions which are recalcitrant can be expelled. Mr. Reilly says on this point:

"If an employer has reason to believe that a man was refused membership in a union or was ousted from membership, on some ground other than his refusal or failure to pay the dues and initiation fees required uniformly of all members, the union shop agreement becomes inapplicable to such an employee. Therefore, if the employer discharges him upon the union's request, both the employer and the union engage in an 'unfair labor practice'."

On the subject of bargaining in good faith, Mr. Reilly makes this point:

"While the new act contains a definition of collective bargaining, it alters existing law in only one minor respect, viz., while bargaining in good faith is still required, the refusal to make a concession can no longer be deemed by the board a breach of this obligation.

"The most important addition to the law is that the act makes the duty to bargain bilateral, since it is now an 'unfair labor practice' for a union, if it is the certified or recognized representative, to fail to carry out its obligation to bargain.

"A common complaint of small companies in recent years has been that the national or international union after reaching an agreement with two or three of the dominant companies in an industry attempts to force this pattern upon all competing companies. Unions have been able to accomplish this by submitting 'master agreements' to competing employers on a take-it-or-leave-it basis. Under such circumstances, collective bargaining becomes a farce.

Employer Afforded Some Relief

"The new act would afford some relief to an employer confronted with a union ultimatum of this sort for he could file an unfair labor practice charge if the union representatives insisted upon pulling a strike without listening to his arguments or counter-proposals."

Mr. Reilley was a Roosevelt appointee to the National Labor Relations Board, from which he resigned a year ago. He is looked upon as the leading authority on the Taft-Hartley Act. His writings indicate that the ITU will be skating on thin ice if it tries to punish members who do not agree with their officers and if the union expels them and endeavors to get them fired from their jobs on the ground that they are not in good standing in their unions.

The points that have been overlooked by the ITU primarily in connection with the workings of the Taft-Hartley law relate to the rights of the individual printers to file damage suits if they lose their union cards and for third parties injured by illegal work stoppages to file suits against both unions and employers. A mere understanding between the union and employer may not be illegal in itself but it may last only as long as it isn't challenged in the courts by some aggrieved person.

THESE DAYS

EISENHOWER

THE Republican Party, in search of a candidate to defeat Harry Truman, will open its door wide to numerous aspirants for the Presidency. It is polite, at this stage, for a candidate to avoid overt declaration of his hopes, unless he has none. The only really forward candidate is Harold Stassen. Taft, Dewey, Eisenhower, Vandenberg and others remain slightly coy.

Tom Dewey, who stands a fairly good chance of being nominated, took a westward-ho trip to visit his parents-in-law and his mother, to attend the Governors' Conference and to see the wild and woolly West. If, perchance, a political question arose, it was incidental and unrelated to the living or the dead. However, Mr. Dewey undoubtedly has a fair approximation of his strength and his weakness and knows pretty well what he needs to do to win. Senator Taft is about to take a similar trip.

The principal issue next year will be Robert A. Taft. No matter who runs, he will either become a defender of Taft, or Truman will back him into a corner. The candidate who will attempt to dodge the issue of Taft will have a tough time because what can he say about the Taft-Hartley Act if he wants to omit consideration of Taft, for better or for worse? The Republican issue was made in the Congress and there is no possible dodging that issue without strengthening Truman.

Thus, the platform has already been written and whoever is nominated by the Republicans must accept it as is, for no weasel words will change a syllable in the public mind. A single slighting of the Taft-Hartley Act or the tax bills will defeat any Republican who runs for the Presidency.

Nearly a year ago, nonchalantly I announced the candidacy of General Eisenhower for President. Some days later, a fine Washington correspondent reported that such announcements as I had made burned General Eisenhower up. Well, the General did not burn up seriously, for he is a candidate and has supporters. There is even a chance that he might be nominated. Any man can avoid being President by stopping a boom. Most men like booms.

The major difficulty of Eisenhower's candidacy is that nobody knows what he believes on any current question. Those who criticize Dewey for austere Coolidgian silence ought to look at Eisenhower's record. Maybe after he has become President of Columbia University, he will deliver addresses here and yon on this and that, so that the public can get a picture of his mind. But up-to-date the record is blank.

His principal advocates among the Republicans take the position that he does not need to declare himself on any subject because he can be elected without even making a speech. They insist that only two generals have come out of the war with popularity of political magnitude, MacArthur and Eisenhower. They assume that MacArthur will not run and that therefore all the weather-vanes point to Eisenhower.

That may be true now, but when the campaign is hot and the fight is furious, the candidate will be asked where he stands on the Taft-Hartley Act, on the reduction of income taxes and on the price of steak in the super-market. He will have to answer or he will go the way of Landon, Willkie and Dewey in previous campaigns.

Furthermore, the Republican candidate will have to criticize Mr. Truman's conduct of the foreign affairs of the United States since V-J Day. Just as Eisenhower would have to defend Taft on the domestic side, so he would have to attack Truman on foreign affairs. This Eisenhower could never do for he has been a party to all the raw deals that have been meted out to the United States since we went into partnership with the so-called peace-loving nations.

It would be wonderful if Eisenhower, as a candidate, spilled the beans which he, as an official, helped to gather. It would be an historically valuable incident. But it will not happen, for then Truman would ask, "And what were you doing and saying at the time, Ike?"

That's the trouble. Maybe that is why Eisenhower won't get it.

Safety Council Will Hold Meeting Tonight

The Western Maryland Safety Council will hold its monthly dinner meeting tonight at 6:30 p. m. at the LaVale Fire Hall, it was announced yesterday.

John J. Long, safety director at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, a member of the council, said that his department will put on a half-hour first aid demonstration at the Labor Day picnic to be held by the management and Local 676, United Paperworkers of America, at Silver Lake, near Thomas, W. Va.

Two lifeguards will be present, and artificial respiration and splints will be among the features of the demonstration. The department will also set up a first aid station on the picnic grounds.

Storm Damage

Rental of equipment, labor and materials will account for the cost, he added.

Miners disclosed yesterday that the Hoffman mine at Eckhart, closed by the government some months ago as being unsafe, was flooded by water Tuesday.

A small stream of water flowing in an artificial channel was swollen by the downpour, jumped the channel and flowed into the mine entrance, according to miners. They said that at the height of the flood the water was within four to five inches of the five-foot high, eight-feet wide portal opening. William Jenkins, owner of the mine, said water also got into other veins of the Consolidated Fuel Company but that he has not yet been able to determine the extent of damage.

The four cows killed by lightning Monday were owned by Philip Brode, of Hoffman. The animals, all thoroughbred Holsteins, were found dead under a tree on the Brode farm about 4:30 p. m. that day.

Brode told neighbors that he counted 12 of his 16 cows under one tree when he checked after the storm and then started searching for the others, soon finding them dead under another tree.

Smoke Fills Home

West Side Fire Company was called to the home of George W. Puffenbarger, 538 Greene Street, yesterday at 12:17 p. m. when the house became filled with smoke. Firemen said the chimney failed to draw as some rubbish was being burned in a furnace.

Kerns Is Transferred To Veterans Hospital

Nelson Kerns, 40-year-old Hampshire County farmer, who state police at Romney, W. Va., believe was a victim of a hit-run driver, has been transferred to Newton D. Baker Veterans Hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va., Trooper F. H. Tribett reported last night.

He said Sheriff C. H. Parsons went to Memorial Hospital, Winchester, Va., Tuesday to question Kerns and found that the World War II veteran suffering from a broken back had been transferred to the Veterans hospital for further treatment.

Hampshire County authorities are investigating the circumstances surrounding the injury of the man who was found unconscious near his home off Bloomery Hollow Road, near the Virginia line, August 18. There is a strong possibility, authorities said, that the man was beaten up before he was struck by the vehicle.

Ridgeley Lions Club Will Name Committees

The board of directors of the Ridgeley Lions Club will meet Friday at 8 o'clock in the office of C. A. Jewell, Bridge Street, Ridgeley, to formulate plans for the coming year. Standing committees of the club will be appointed at the meeting by Mr. Jewell, who is president of the club.

The Ridgeley civic group during the past year co-operated with other Ridgeley organizations in supporting a playground program, sponsored the course taken by Coach Jesse Riggleman in driver education and provided funds for an operation to remove a growth which impaired the sight of a Patterson's Creek youth.

Luke Postmistress Gets State Office

Miss Charlotte F. Worgan, postmistress of the Luke postoffice, yesterday was one of two members elected to the National Membership ommittee of the Maryland Chapter of National Association of Postmasters.

Miss Worgan, who has held the position in Luke for many years, was elected to the chairmanship along with Herbert C. Estep, postmaster at Glen Burnie.

Neal A. Sibley, Baltimore postmaster, was re-elected president of the Maryland Chapter at the closing session of the three day joint convention of postmasters and postal supervisors.

Approximately 150 delegates attended the convention.

Wife Forfeits Bond, Husband, Man Fined

A husband and the man he engaged in a fight with were both found guilty and fined $10 each yesterday in Police Court, while the wife, forfeited $10 bond on a disorderly conduct charge, according to police.

The husband, J. B. Shanholtzer, 37 North Mechanic Street, his wife, Pauline Shanholtzer, 334 Avirett Avenue, and Darby Healy, 12 North Lee Street, were arrested yesterday morning at 3:45 o'clock.

Police said Shanholtzer accused Healy of running around with his wife and started the fight. The two men were committed to City Jail after being found guilty but later paid their fines and were released.

Explosion Victim Reported "Improving"

Mrs. Chester Erickson, 33, 138 Elder Street, who was seriously burned in an explosion in her kitchen August 21, was reported "improving" yesterday by Memorial Hospital attaches.

Mrs. Erickson suffered first, second and third degree burns of the body when the explosion caused a series of flash flames to spread through the room. The woman told authorities that she cannot remember anything about the incident after she struck a match to light a cigaret.

Ruth Smith, 17, to Miss Smith and Miss Rosemary Weimer were Regina Ferguon, 16, Route 3, Cumberland; Rose Anne Willison, 18, Route 2, Cumberland; Mary Weimer, 16, Mt. Savage; Elaine Weimer, 16, Mt. Savage; Alice Greise, 16, Valley Road; Patricia Creek, 16, Little Orleans; Ellen Orndorff, 16, Rawlings; Lorena Nazelrod, 17, Route 2; Joan Barton, 16, Pinto, and Ethel Gillum, 16, Bedford Road.

Judges were Mrs. Austin Twigg, Twiggtown; Charles Harvey, of Shaft, and Mrs. B. C. Robinette, Flintstone.

Mrs. Lloyd Bruce Shaw, president of the Associated Women of the Farm Bureau, which sponsored the event, was mistress of ceremonies.

Fruit Theft Probed

State Police last night questioned several juveniles in the Frostburg Community Jail in connection with the theft of fruit from a produce market operated on Eckhart Flat by Arthur Finnerman.

Frostburg police described the theft as "minor," while State Police said they would not complete the investigation until this morning. The youths were not identified.

Two Veterans Enlist In Army For ETO Duty

Two men, both veterans, enlisted in the Regular Army at the local Army Recruiting station yesterday, Capt. Laurence M. Bairstow, detachment commander, announced.

James Salvatore Frasca, Rome, N. Y., enlisted as a private first class for three years in the European Theater. He is a veteran of 22 months in the Navy.

Vincent Monteleone, 206 Oak Street, signed for three years in the E. T. O. He has served one year and seven months previously.

Western Maryland Sued For $6,500

Two suits have been filed by titling in Circuit Court against the Western Maryland Railway Company and Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the plaintiffs, said damages totaling $6,500 will be asked.

The suits were filed by Bervella G. Adams and Louis Adams.

Ryan said Mrs. Adams fell on the Western Maryland Railway crossing in Westernport in June 1946 and fractured her left foot. She is asking damages of $5,000, according to Ryan, who said $1,500 will be sought for Adams for loss of his wife's services.

Ryan said there was a defective place in the crossing when Mrs. Adams fell. He described the crossing as being in dangerous condition.

Weaver Named Head Of American Hoboes

BRITT, Ia., Aug. 27 (AP)—America's hoboes, in annual convention assembled, warmed themselves by early morning campfires today, elected "Highway Johnny" Weaver, of Ashland, Nebr., as their new king and then partook of a noon meal of slumgullion served up in tin cans.

Polly Ellen Pep, who is developing her 30-acre tract near Cuba, N. Y., into a hobo haven called "Rock Candy Mountain" was re-elected Queen of the Bo's without opposition.

Weaver, who is 58, campaigned in western style togs and played ancient ragtime tunes to win the election over a dozen candidates including Scoop Shovel Scotty, no fixed address.

Weaver succeeds Skeets Simmons, of Detroit, who was unable to attend this year due to illness.

Ben Benson, onetime hobo king who reneged on his threat to boycott this year's convention, was named King Emeritus and "Woody from Wisconsin" was elected Crown Prince.

Delaware is the second smallest state in the Union.

Here's New Idea For New Babies

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 (AP)—A new idea for new babies is a little meat in their bottles.

Babies take to meat fed by bottle, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported after experiments at a Nebraska experiment station.

Beginning when the babies were six weeks old, Dr. Ruth Leverton fed 18 infants strained beef, veal, pork and lamb. She gave them one kind each week in rotation, adding the meat to the babies' formulas.

The amount of meat used was just enough to increase the protein content of each formula 25 per cent, averaging about one ounce a day.

Nurses reported the meat-fed babies were more satisfied and slept better than babies who received no meat. Physicians reported the meat eaters in better physical condition.

Government officials said "most significant is the fact that none of the meat-fed babies developed the anemia characteristic of their age."

Few Polio Cases Here,

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, yesterday said there was no need for alarm over the five cases of polio reported in this county during the past two weeks since they constitute the county's total for 1947.

However, funeral homes here were advised by the Health Department yesterday that bodies of infantile paralysis victims must be kept at the funeral home, must be placed in a closed casket, that services must be private and that burial should be held within 48 hours.

U. S. Says Farben Officials Aided Hitler War Aims

Trial Of Directors Opens In Nuernberg

NUERNBERG, Aug. 27 (AP) —The United States opened the war crimes trial of 22 directors of the billion dollar I. G. Farben chemical trust today with the charge that they fostered an "economic spy system" for Adolf Hitler in full co-operation with his plans for waging the world's costliest war.

The prosecution disclosed that American businessmen who were exposed to the spy system will be brought to Nuernberg to testify against the directors.

All-Day Speech

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, United States chief of counsel for war crimes, in a blistering all-day speech asserted that the Farben experts in chemicals, dyes, synthetic rubber and other war materials deliberately fostered Hitler's war aims, eagerly exploited slave labor and waged aggressive war from their laboratories.

The Farben officials — all outstanding men in business or science in prewar Germany—listened glumly to Taylor's scathing denunciation and several grimaced when he said:

"Himmler, for a price, furnished the defendants with miserable inmates from his concentration camps, who slaved and died to build the buna (synthetic rubber) factory. It is a revolting story of brutality and murder."

The American prosecutors said they would bring a number of employes of firms related to Farben to Nuernberg to substantiate the whole "Farben economic spy system."

Ansco Film Involved

They listed as probable witnesses employes of the General Aniline and Film Corporation of New York and the subsidiary Ansco film division of Binghamton, N. Y.

A responsible United States attorney said they will tell this story:

Farben worked out a deal with Ansco films to provide camera equipment for an Alaskan expedition of the noted "Glacier Priest," Father Bernard Hubbard, and equipped his expedition financially in other ways.

In exchange Farben obtained a copy of the report Father Hubbard made to the United States War Department. The prosecutor emphasized that the priest's connection with the arrangement was entirely innocent.

Off-Campus Courses Comprise U. Of Md. School

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 27 (AP) — The University of Maryland announced today the grouping of its off-campus courses, night classes and academic extension work under a new "College of Special and Continuation Studies."

Dr. George J. Kabat returns to the university to head the new school after 18 months with the United States Office of Education and four years in the Army with the combat engineers and the Office of Strategic Services.

One of the aims of the new division is development of a program for Maryland's elementary and high school teachers enabling them to earn credits throughout the year instead of waiting for summer school.

The university announcement said the new school will be a general clearing house for all off-campus academic work, including the extensive program of evening classes in Baltimore.

Papers "Draw Broad Picture"

He said the papers under discussion "draw a broad picture of the functions, rights and obligations of an international agency which would be charged with the operation and management and sole control of all dangerous atomic activities . . . .

Osborn said there was a "wide gulf" between this concept of control and the "concept of national agencies, among which an international agency with powers of inspection would act as a regulatory body." He was referring to the Russian insistence on national controls and a limit on powers of the agency.

All three conference working committees put finishing touches to the hemisphere pact, and indications were that their work would be completed tomorrow.

Good News For Folks Who Suffer From

✓ STOMACH GAS
✓ SOUR FOOD TASTE
✓ ACID INDIGESTION

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief from this nervous distress.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. UMW Again Raps Boyd Appointment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27—(AP)—John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers Union fired a new blast today at President Truman's appointment of James Boyd as United States Bureau of Mines director and declared that Mr. Truman "seems to have a happy faculty for pulling a boner."

Boyd, a former dean of the Colorado School of Mines at Golden, Colo., was sworn in today on an interim appointment made while Congress is in recess. He was originally nominated for the post by Mr. Truman last March, but Congress failed to confirm him after Lewis bitterly protested the selection.

The UMW Journal also criticized Secretary of the Interior Krug for the Boyd appointment, saying in an editorial:

"All through this prolonged Boyd mess and the imposing of the Boyd incompetency upon the coal business, we have been amazed at the apparent influence that Playboy Krug has with President Truman.

"We have asked a number of Washington observers why President Truman falls for Krug, and it is as much of a mystery to them as it is to us," the editorial continued.

Senator Bilbo Did Not Leave A Will

POPLARVILLE, Miss., Aug. 27 — (AP)—Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo (D-Miss.) who died in New Orleans Aug. 21, apparently failed to leave a will, Deputy Chancery Clerk H. K. Rouse said here today.

Rouse said that Chancellor Lester Clark, of Hattiesburg, would be asked to appoint an administrator for the estate. It was asserted, however, that final action on naming an administrator would await the arrival of Forrest Jackson, attorney for the late senator.

A conference was held yesterday with the Chancery Clerk, N. C. Rouse, by Lt. Col. Theo G. Bilbo, Jr., and Mrs. Jessie Bilbo Smith, children of the senator.

It was stated that a search of safety deposit boxes in Poplarville, Hattiesburg and elsewhere, had produced no will.

No estimate of the value of the Bilbo estate has been made so far.

U. S. Says Farben Officials Aided Hitler War Aims

Trial Of Directors Opens In Nuernberg

NUERNBERG, Aug. 27 (AP) —The United States opened the war crimes trial of 22 directors of the billion dollar I. G. Farben chemical trust today with the charge that they fostered an "economic spy system" for Adolf Hitler in full co-operation with his plans for waging the world's costliest war.

The prosecution disclosed that American businessmen who were exposed to the spy system will be brought to Nuernberg to testify against the directors.

All-Day Speech

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, United States chief of counsel for war crimes, in a blistering all-day speech asserted that the Farben experts in chemicals, dyes, synthetic rubber and other war materials deliberately fostered Hitler's war aims, eagerly exploited slave labor and waged aggressive war from their laboratories.

The Farben officials — all outstanding men in business or science in prewar Germany—listened glumly to Taylor's scathing denunciation and several grimaced when he said:

"Himmler, for a price, furnished the defendants with miserable inmates from his concentration camps, who slaved and died to build the buna (synthetic rubber) factory. It is a revolting story of brutality and murder."

The American prosecutors said they would bring a number of employes of firms related to Farben to Nuernberg to substantiate the whole "Farben economic spy system."

Ansco Film Involved

They listed as probable witnesses employes of the General Aniline and Film Corporation of New York and the subsidiary Ansco film division of Binghamton, N. Y.

A responsible United States attorney said they will tell this story:

Farben worked out a deal with Ansco films to provide camera equipment for an Alaskan expedition of the noted "Glacier Priest," Father Bernard Hubbard, and equipped his expedition financially in other ways.

In exchange Farben obtained a copy of the report Father Hubbard made to the United States War Department. The prosecutor emphasized that the priest's connection with the arrangement was entirely innocent.

Off-Campus Courses Comprise U. Of Md. School

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 27 (AP) — The University of Maryland announced today the grouping of its off-campus courses, night classes and academic extension work under a new "College of Special and Continuation Studies."

Dr. George J. Kabat returns to the university to head the new school after 18 months with the United States Office of Education and four years in the Army with the combat engineers and the Office of Strategic Services.

One of the aims of the new division is development of a program for Maryland's elementary and high school teachers enabling them to earn credits throughout the year instead of waiting for summer school.

The university announcement said the new school will be a general clearing house for all off-campus academic work, including the extensive program of evening classes in Baltimore.

He said the papers under discussion "draw a broad picture of the functions, rights and obligations of an international agency which would be charged with the operation and management and sole control of all dangerous atomic activities . . . .

Osborn said there was a "wide gulf" between this concept of control and the "concept of national agencies, among which an international agency with powers of inspection would act as a regulatory body." Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl Should Enlist Her Friends To Help Bashful Dancer

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been going out with a boy for two years, but can never get him to go dancing. He is a very good dancer, but he is too bashful to dance where there is a crowd of people. He dances with me at home, but as soon as he steps on my feet, he stops dancing. Please tell me how I can get him to dance.

"PERKY"

Dear "Perky":

The best way to help your boy friend overcome his bashfulness on the dance floor is to enlist the help of your girl friends.

Since he is willing to dance with you at home, start by inviting one or two of your girl friends, with one or two boys, over to your house for the evening. Explain to the girls in advance that this boy is really a good dancer, but is very shy about asking girls to dance, and tell them that if he doesn't invite them, when you turn on the radio or phonograph dance music, you'll depend on them to persuade him. They can easily do this by telling him jokingly that this is a Leap Year dance or something.

Don't make dancing the chief feature of the evening, however. Play games for most of the time, and then suggest that you have a dance or two just before going-home time. Otherwise, the bashful boy may be unhappy all evening. Next time, the same group might meet at somebody else's house and repeat the program and so forth, until eventually, the suggestion might come that you all go out to some public place to dance.

Break him into group dancing little by little, and in time he'll probably enjoy it.

Her Fiance Makes Poor Showing

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl of 19, and have been going with a fellow off and on for three years. Five minths ago, he asked me to mary him, and I accepted.

Since then, he doesn't call when he says he will. The past couple of Sundays we were supposed to go out, and he has gone with the boys instead. He goes with a crowd, and when he's with them I don't even exist for him. They are a bad influence on him in a lot of other ways, too.

He says he loves me, and I do him, but when he acts like this, it makes me wonder. Please advise me what to do.

"C. O'C."

Dear "C. O'C.":

If your young man would rather go out with his own friends than be with you, then I'm afraid he doesn't love you as much as he says. A man who is really in love would rather be with his girl than with anyone else in the world. In fact, it's hard for anyone to keep him away from her.

Moreover, if these companions of his are the kind who have a bad influence on him, he's not the kind of person you ought to marry.

If you want my advice, it's to tell this chap he'll have to choose between you and these unsavory friends of his. If he tells you you're his choice, and you then find he continues to hang around this crowd, you'd better send him about hiso business and look for someone more worth-while. You're sure to be sorry if you don't.

Union Challenges Lewis' District 50

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27. (AP)—The National Mediation Board said today it will name a mediator soon to determine whether to call a collective bargaining election among the 532 workers on the Western Maryland Railway.

District 50, the catch-all unit of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers, now has the bargaining rights for employes of the road. A brotherhood of locomotive engineers once represented the workers, but lost that right in a strike more than 25 years ago.

Now the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, an independent, is challenging District 50's majority on the road, and has petitioned the Mediation Board for an election.

A mediator will investigate the latter brotherhood's claims before recommending that the board direct an election, an official of the agency explained. The brotherhood probably will end its drawn out convention in San Francisco this week and action may be expected after Labor Day, this official said.

Blind Brothers Given $1 Bill For $5

Two blind brothers who operate a grocery store on Goethe Street told police yesterday they were the victims of a customer who gave them a $1 bill and said it was a five.

Detective Edwin Lilya said he is investigating the report made by Ralph and James O'Neal who learned they were cheated, allegedly by a young Elkns, W. Va., woman, minutes after she left the store.

The brothers, said Detective Lilya, have perfected their own "system" of determining the value of paper money for just such instances.

Back Pay Claims Are Disallowed By Court

Back pay claims of several employes of Boyd L. Harper, against his personal property which was sold at public auction July 26 to satisfy a mortgage claim by Lloyd Schurling were disallowed yesterday by Chief Judge William A. Huster.

The employes, Benjamin F. Carlile, W. L. Valentine, Lester R. House and Phil Riggleman, filed claims totalling approximately $146 against the receiver of the property sale, F. Brooke Whiting, who was appointed by the court. Whiting sold the property for $1,500.

The court found that Whiting's answer to the Harper employes, stating that their claim was against Harper's business not against his property was correct.

The sale was caused by a suit filed by Schurling after Harper defaulted a $2,000 mortgage on May 14 of this year. The wage claim was filed by the employes three days before the sale.

Men with prior service will not be required to take basic training and only three, four and five year enlistments are accepted under the plan.

Specialized training in 14 broad categories is offered and includes aircraft mechanics, armament, wire communications, radar, automotive mechanics, supply and administration.

Applicants should submit a transcript of their high school grades, three letters of recommendation and indicate their choice of schools in enlisting. Further information may be obtained at the local Army Recruiting station, County Building, Union Street.

Back Pay Claims Are Disallowed By Court

Back pay claims of several employes of Boyd L. Harper, against his personal property which was sold at public auction July 26 to satisfy a mortgage claim by Lloyd Schurling were disallowed yesterday by Chief Judge William A. Huster.

The employes, Benjamin F. Carlile, W. L. Valentine, Lester R. House and Phil Riggleman, filed claims totalling approximately $146 against the receiver of the property sale, F. Brooke Whiting, who was appointed by the court. Whiting sold the property for $1,500.

The court found that Whiting's answer to the Harper employes, stating that their claim was against Harper's business not against his property was correct.

The sale was caused by a suit filed by Schurling after Harper defaulted a $2,000 mortgage on May 14 of this year. The wage claim was filed by the employes three days before the sale.

TODAY'S GAME
Frostburg at Mt. Savage

The battle for a fourth place playoff spot in the Bi-State Baseball League tightened yesterday when the pace-setting Westvaco Club defeated the Lonaconing Republican Club in Westernport by the score of 11-2 and narrowed the latter's lead over the Frostburg V. F. W. to a half game.

In another game staged yesterday, the Hyndman Firemen practically eliminated Mt. Savage from a place in the league's playoff series by defeating the latter to the tune of 5-3 at Hyndman, Pa. Mt. Savage dropped 1½ games in the rear of Frostburg's 5th place team. The regular league schedule will be concluded on Labor Day.

See Wins No. 17

Bill See scattered seven hits and threw the third strike past ten in notching his 17th victory against a single defeat against Lonaconing. Harry Sallada was the batting star for Westvaco with two doubles and a homer and four runs batted in. His circuit smash came with Pattison on base in the third inning. Pattison rapped out three singles.

The game at Westernport was played in threatening weather and was witnessed by a small crowd.

Staup, Lonaconing's starting hurler, was the loser. He was relieved by young Bob Grove in the fifth.

John Waltman Scores

Johnny Waltman, youthful right-hander, who recently signed a contract with the St. Louis Browns, and will get a trial at Muskogee, Okla., next spring, pitched the Hyndman Firemen to victory over Mt. Savage. He scattered seven hits, whiffed ten batsmen and registered his fifth triumph against a single setback. He fanned the side in the 5th and rapped out a two-bagger.

Manager "Pete" Cook, "Pete" Deremer and "Buck" Bruner shared six of Hyndman's nine hits. Charley "Snow" Walters topped the Mt. Savage hitters with two bingles to his credit.

Aldridge, who pitched the first 4⅓ frames was charged with the defeat. Jim Delaney finished.

Play At Mt. Savage

Frostburg is scheduled to play at Mt. Savage today at 5:15 p. m. A victory for Manager "Buck" Winfield's tossers will tie them with Coney for fourth place. Boxes:

RUTH HOPES MIZE SETS NEW RECORD

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27—(AP)—George Herman (Babe) Ruth, the greatest home-run hitter of them all, said today he hoped that Johnny Mize of the New York Giants sets a new record for roundtrippers this season.

"After all, records are made to be broken," Ruth, who set the present mark of 60 in one season, told newsmen when he arrived at the Union station. "I'd like to see Mize do it, and it looks as if he had a great chance."

The Giants' first baseman hit Nos. 41 and 42 yesterday to put him four games and two days ahead of Ruth's 1927 record.

League Will Meet

An important meeting of the Celanese Softball League will be held today at 7:30 p. m. in the plant employment office. All managers are requested to attend as arrangements and plans are to be made for the playoffs.

Chicago Finally Defeats Hatten Of Dodgers, 6-3

Southpaw's 8-Game Win Streak Halted

BROOKLYN, Aug. 27 (AP) — They had to snap a jinx to do it, but the Chicago Cubs made it four straight over the National League leading Brooklyn Dodgers today by overcoming their antipathy to Lefty Joe Hatten's slants and beating him on his home acreage, 6 to 3.

Hatten previously held eight straight decisions over the Cubs who beat the Brooks three straight at Chicago last month.

Today the Cubs went to work quickly on the Brooklyn southpaw, with Catcher Bob Scheffing slamming a home run into the left field seats with two aboard in the first inning. Box:

37 COLLECT $1,086 ON "DAILY DOUBLE"

SALEM, N. H., Aug. 27 (AP)—The highest daily double of the 1947 New England racing season was recorded at Rockingham Park today before a 12,151 crowd as two lightly regarded winners combined to pay off $1,086.40 on a $2 ticket.

Thirty seven winning tickets were held on H. B. Hershen's Westwood Belle (23-1) in the first race, and Fantasy Farm's Nuclear (11-1) in the second. Consolation double of $34.00 was paid when Mrs. C. Vandenberge's Poker Face was scratched out of the second race.

Swamp Fever May Imperil American Turf

43 Horses Isolated At Rockingham Track

By BILL KING

SALEM, N. H., Aug. 27 (AP)—As the Rockingham Park management took drastic steps to check the "swamp fever" epidemic raging at its racing plant, veterinary experts and horsemen today feared that this equine infectious anemia may imperil much of the American turf world.

No new cases were reported to General Manager Lou Smith, who ordered all 43 ailing horses isolated in a huge tent. He also demanded the destruction of the sick thoroughbred's bedding, the sealing of their stalls for at least three days and the fumigation of all tack.

Florida May Be Source

In Boston Dr. William H. Shannon, Massachusetts' chief veterinary health officer for 33 years, said that the infectious anemia virus "must have been brought into this area because we never had it before."

Dr. Shannon said he has been informed that the disease was brought into New England by a thoroughbred that died in this section after being shipped in from a Florida track.

"The ailment is a blood disease," he explained, "presumably transmitted by blood-sucking insects from 'carrier' horses which are either sick or apparently recovered."

The Massachusetts expert recalled that several apparently healthy horses at a government

TODAY'S GAME
Frostburg at Mt. Savage

The battle for a fourth place playoff spot in the Bi-State Baseball League tightened yesterday when the pace-setting Westvaco Club defeated the Lonaconing Republican Club in Westernport by the score of 11-2 and narrowed the latter's lead over the Frostburg V. F. W. to a half game.

In another game staged yesterday, the Hyndman Firemen practically eliminated Mt. Savage from a place in the league's playoff series by defeating the latter to the tune of 5-3 at Hyndman, Pa. Mt. Savage dropped 1½ games in the rear of Frostburg's 5th place team. The regular league schedule will be concluded on Labor Day.

See Wins No. 17

Bill See scattered seven hits and threw the third strike past ten in notching his 17th victory against a single defeat against Lonaconing. Harry Sallada was the batting star for Westvaco with two doubles and a homer and four runs batted in. His circuit smash came with Pattison on base in the third inning. Pattison rapped out three singles.

The game at Westernport was played in threatening weather and was witnessed by a small crowd.

Staup, Lonaconing's starting hurler, was the loser. He was relieved by young Bob Grove in the fifth.

John Waltman Scores

Johnny Waltman, youthful right-hander, who recently signed a contract with the St. Louis Browns, and will get a trial at Muskogee, Okla., next spring, pitched the Hyndman Firemen to victory over Mt. Savage. He scattered seven hits, whiffed ten batsmen and registered his fifth triumph against a single setback. He fanned the side in the 5th and rapped out a two-bagger.

Manager "Pete" Cook, "Pete" Deremer and "Buck" Bruner shared six of Hyndman's nine hits. Charley "Snow" Walters topped the Mt. Savage hitters with two bingles to his credit.

Aldridge, who pitched the first 4½ frames was charged with the defeat. Jim Delaney finished.

Play At Mt. Savage

Frostburg is scheduled to play at Mt. Savage today at 5:15 p. m. A victory for Manager "Buck" Winfield's tossers will tie them with Coney for fourth place. Boxes:

RUTH HOPES MIZE SETS NEW RECORD

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27—(AP)—George Herman (Babe) Ruth, the greatest home-run hitter of them all, said today he hoped that Johnny Mize of the New York Giants gets a new record for roundtrippers this season.

"After all, records are made to be broken," Ruth, who set the present mark of 60 in one season, told newsmen when he arrived at the Union station. "I'd like to see Mize do it, and it looks as if he had a great chance."

The Giants' first baseman hit Nos. 41 and 42 yesterday to put him four games and two days ahead of Ruth's 1927 record.

League Will Meet

An important meeting of the Celanese Softball League will be held today at 7:30 p. m. in the plant employment office. All managers are requested to attend as arrangements and plans are to be made for the playoffs.

Swamp Fever May Imperil American Turf

43 Horses Isolated At Rockingham Track

By BILL KING

SALEM, N. H., Aug. 27 (AP)—As the Rockingham Park management took drastic steps to check the "swamp fever" epidemic raging at its racing plant, veterinary experts and horsemen today feared that this equine infectious anemia may imperil much of the American turf world.

No new cases were reported to General Manager Lou Smith, who ordered all 43 ailing horses isolated in a huge tent. He also demanded the destruction of the sick thoroughbred's bedding, the sealing of their stalls for at least three days and the fumigation of all tack.

Florida May Be Source

In Boston Dr. William H. Shannon, Massachusetts' chief veterinary health officer for 33 years, said that the infectious anemia virus "must have been brought into this area because we never had it before."

Dr. Shannon said he has been informed that the disease was brought into New England by a thoroughbred that died in this section after being shipped in from a Florida track.

"The ailment is a blood disease," he explained, "presumably transmitted by blood-sucking insects from 'carrier' horses which are either sick or ap

Local Guard Unit Largest Company At Camp Ritchie

Pleased with the work of the local 17-year-olds who attended the National Guard encampment at Camp Ritchie last week, Capt. Robert Matlick, company commander of the local Company C, stated that his company had the largest delegation at the camp and has the largest membership in the 115th Regiment.

Sixty-eight men and five officers made the trip and Capt. Matlick stated that two of the members of the local unit who were never on a firing range were cited by the regimental commander for posting the highest scores in their units. The citations were handled George Weatherholt, Company C, and Cpl. Robert Wade, Headquarters Company.

The encampment really was a large scale instruction in preparation for the War Department's "Six-Year Army Plan"—a plan which hopes to see the National Guard training on an Army level after progression through subordinate levels for six years. That day will be "M-Day" for the National Guard, Matlick stated.

Instruction at the encampment was by the Army's war-tested committee system which proved of great value at replacement training camps and officer candidate schools.

Officer-instructors at the gathering were divided into instruction groups called committees, with each group assigned a particular subject or group of subjects. By rotating the men through these varied groups, each unit was allowed to impress its subject matter much more firmly by reason of having their fields limited to one subject. Officers attended a special school each day to go over the next day's instruction.

The Cumberland contingent learned the maneuvers and duties of the interior guard Monday morning, and that afternoon was on the range firing for record. They worked alternately in the pits and on the firing line.

Several local men drew special training assignments. Corporal Robert Woods attended drivers school, Sergeant George Drew, supply school, and Sergeant Ray Humberson, public relatiouns school.

Later in the week, Sergeant Merrill Lambert was assigned to intellibence school and Sergeant Humbertson drew an assignment in communications school. All of these men are filling assignments in their units where these special skills will be needed.

The local unit, Company C, had the largest delegation at the camp, and is likewise the company unit with the largest membership in the 115th Regiment.

Sergeant Humbertson said that Camp Ritchie is tremendously improved since prewar days, citing that barracks have replaced tents and the Camp has had a general face-lifting. Veterans are back, also, he added, to aid in the training of the new men, which has added much to the program.

The new men, as well as the veterans, showed enthusiasm and played as hard as they worked while enjoying swimming, softball, touch football and boxing. And, according to both Capt. Matlick and his "top kick," Sgt. Robert Sawyer, they did little complainoing, especially after it was announced a big party would wind up activities Friday night.

Local Guard Unit Largest Company At Camp Ritchie

Pleased with the work of the local 17-year-olds who attended the National Guard encampment at Camp Ritchie last week, Capt. Robert Matlick, company commander of the local Company C, stated that his company had the largest delegation at the camp and has the largest membership in the 115th Regiment.

Sixty-eight men and five officers made the trip and Capt. Matlick stated that two of the members of the local unit who were never on a firing range were cited by the regimental commander for posting the highest scores in their units. The citations were handled George Weatherholt, Company C, and Cpl. Robert Wade, Headquarters Company.

The encampment really was a large scale instruction in preparation for the War Department's "Six-Year Army Plan"—a plan which hopes to see the National Guard training on an Army level after progression through subordinate levels for six years. That day will be "M-Day" for the National Guard, Matlick stated.

Instruction at the encampment was by the Army's war-tested committee system which proved of great value at replacement training camps and officer candidate schools.

Officer-instructors at the gathering were divided into instruction groups called committees, with each group assigned a particular subject or group of subjects. By rotating the men through these varied groups, each unit was allowed to impress its subject matter much more firmly by reason of having their fields limited to one subject. Officers attended a special school each day to go over the next day's instruction.

The Cumberland contingent learned the maneuvers and duties of the interior guard Monday morning, and that afternoon was on the range firing for record. They worked alternately in the pits and on the firing line.

Several local men drew special training assignments. Corporal Robert Woods attended drivers school, Sergeant George Drew, supply school, and Sergeant Ray Humberson, public relatiouns school.

Later in the week, Sergeant Merrill Lambert was assigned to intellibence school and Sergeant Humbertson drew an assignment in communications school. All of these men are filling assignments in their units where these special skills will be needed.

The local unit, Company C, had the largest delegation at the camp, and is likewise the company unit with the largest membership in the 115th Regiment.

Sergeant Humbertson said that Camp Ritchie is tremendously improved since prewar days, citing that barracks have replaced tents and the Camp has had a general face-lifting. Veterans are back, also, he added, to aid in the training of the new men, which has added much to the program.

The new men, as well as the veterans, showed enthusiasm and played as hard as they worked while enjoying swimming, softball, touch football and boxing. And, according to both Capt. Matlick and his "top kick," Sgt. Robert Sawyer, they did little complainoing, especially after it was announced a big party would wind up activities Friday night.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 27—Mark Stevens, who has been spending every minute with Hedy Lamarr, will have to stop gazing in her eyes and holding her hand long enough to go to work. Yep, Mark has himself a pretty swell job as the lead in "The Street With No Name," the story of an FBI agent.

Audrey Young

Symbolically "The Street With No Name" is the street which leads to crime and exists in every community in the United States. The story, as I told you some time ago, deals with juvenile delinquency, and has the official blessing of J. Edgar Hoover who talked with Darryl Zanuck and gave him permission to take this story, which Harry Kleiner authored, out of the actual FBI files.

The story, which took Sam Engel to Washington for so long, will be shot by Director William Keighley in six different cities in the east and west to achieve a composite locale.

Wonderful news that Marsha Hunt is well enough to return to work September 3. Marsha will have the romantic lead with Bill Lundigan in "End of the Rainbow" at Republic.

I saw quite a lot of her when she was in the hospital recently, and I felt very close to her at the time she lost her baby. I realized what a fine, brave girl she is.

Republic is to be congratulated in getting Marsha, who is a fine actress, and it will be nice to see Bill Lundigan again. He did such a fine job during the war. "End of the Rainbow" reunites the team of Mary Anita Loos and Richard Sale, writers, with Alan Dwan, the veteran director-producer.

The mixed up matrimonial affairs of Cornell Wilde and his Patricia were more involved than ever when Cornel, who has been on a fishing trip, returned home unexpectedly and invited Pat to have dinner with him.

She accepted and they went to the Bel-Air Hotel and sat at a table for two. Next day, Cornel again left town, but I talked with him before he departed and he seemed very optimistic and happy that before long he and his blonde wife would be together permanently.

He said when they had dinner the other evening it was the first time they haven't battled. Well, Pat, or Patricia Knight as she prefers to be called, is getting what she wants—a movie career.

Chatter in Hollywood: Johnny Meyer, Senator Brewster's nemesis, and Howard Hughes' good man Friday, may be married any edition. Johnny is flying to Cannes, to keep a rendezvous with Janet Thomas, who is meeting him there. He was in Paris to meet her when Senator Brewster yanked him back for the Senate investigation.

It was very amusing that Johnny was supposed to be missing, because he was right in Paris with his picture in the Paris newspapers. As Johnny originally intended to marry Janet weeks ago, which he told me himself, it seems more than likely she'll come back with him as Mrs. Meyer.

Jerry Wald, on my radio show Sunday, may have ruffled the feathers of some of the boys with his caustic remarks about producers, but he has one staunch supporter of his views.

David Hempstead telephoned me from New York to say he heard the broadcast while he was motoring down from Connecticutt, and said he agreed with Jerry about the "tired and trite" pictures so many producers are making today.

"But," Dave added, "we're also making too many tough and terrifying movies. Why not make more showing the good qualities in people?" David is in New York for added scenes on "Portrait Of Jennie."

Just as Donna Reed's husband, Tony Owen, was taking off for New York on business, a long distance call came from Donna's sister, Lavonne Mullinger, saying she has been secretly married to a pilot named Jay Warburton, since August 2nd. The knot was tied in Yuma. Lavonne, who is known as Heidi on Broadway, has achieved considerable success as a Conover model.

And now about Tony's business trip. He and Huntington Hartford heir to the A. and P. stores, are going into the agency business together, and Tony's trip east is to establish offices in New York.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:—Tommy Dorsey has met Audrey Young and fallen for her like a ton of bricks. That Tommy Dorsey-Benny Goodman fight is becoming a little on the ridiculous side. How silly can two grown men get? I'd hate to think all this was publicity. If it is, it does no one any good.

Mrs. Randolph Scott, who was so ill a few month ago, has had a recurrence of an allergy, which the doctors, so far, have been unable to diagnose. She and Randy have been away on a vacation and she was sick when she came back.

Margaret Ettinger long distanced me from Hyannis, Massachusetts. She was at Cape Cod for the weekend as the guest of Herbert Kalmus. Among the other guests was Sandra Rogers, and I am wondering if one of these days we won't have a marriage announcement of the doctor and Miss Rogers.

Had dinner with my boss, J. D. Gortatowsky, who is head of the Hearst syndicate and general manager. We went on to Mocambo, where we talked with Harry Richman who opens here, at Ciro's, September 5. He was with Dorothy and Joe Pasternak. Jack Dempsey and a pretty girl named Mary Ainslee, stopped to chat with us. We lingered only briefly because my boss is off to a meeting of Hearst executives at San Simeon, and I had to have my beauty sleep.

John Garfield tells me that he has decided against doing "A Street Car Named Desire," although the deal was practically set with Irene Selznick. But he will do a play in New York.

That's all today.

Value? Only a parent can tell you. Cost? Uncle Sam allows a $500 income tax exemption to cover a year's board and keep—a parent has ideas on that too!

Value? What else gives you so much for so little as electricity? It lights, heats, cools, cleans and entertains; saves you time, work, money. Cost? A few cents a day!

Value? Ask any doctor the value of radium—or a patient whose life it has saved. Cost? A single ounce would cost you around $700,000—if you could buy that much all at once!

Value? You can measure a diamond's value only in a woman's eyes. Its cost? About $900 for a good-quality, one-carat stone . . . and it takes more than 140 carats to make one ounce

"Tracer Of Lost Persons" Returns To Air Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 — Comes another vacationer back to the kilocycles Thursday night. It's the script of Mr. Keen, always listed as the "Tracer Of Lost Persons," or a different type of mystery yarn. The network will continue to be CBS, but the time is different 7:30. The first "case" is that of "The Man Who Traveled With Death." Bennet Kilpack continues to be Mr. Keen of the script.

The first of a series of broadcasts this weekend from the annual convention of the American Legion as it takes place in New York is on the Thursday schedule. It will be MBS at 3:30, the address of Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal.

America's Town Meeting, stopping at Phoenix, Ariz., is to debate "Can Free Enterprise Here Compete With Socialism Abroad?" The usual ABC transmission at 8:30. Next week this program is moving to Tuesday nights.

More discussion on CBS, the In My Opinion series at 5:15, will have as its question "What Do Communists Really Want?" On one side will be Robert Thompson of the N. Y. State Communist Party and on the other Eugene Lyons, writer.

Both Ralph Bellamy and Beryl Davis are on the slate for appearances in the Martin Block party on MBS at 8:30. Also Johnny Guarnieri, jazz pianist. Beryl will do some singing, while Bellamy comes on in his category as an actor. . . . The Concert of Nations, NBC at 10:30, is to be presented by Station CBR of Vancouver, B. C.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Abe Burrows is a veteran radio writer and one of the few who actually enjoys the work. He was the original writer of "Duffy's Tavern" and has also written the Joan Davis and Dinah Shore shows. In his spare time, Burrows composes hilarious parodies on popular songs with such titles as "The Girl With the Three Blue Eyes" or "I Got a Gal in Calico Who's Dying for a Mink" which he now sings on his show (C.B.S. 10:30 p. m. Saturdays). Here he explains some of the difficulties encountered by radio writers.—John Crosby.

By ABE BURROWS

Nobody Loves the Writers Either

When I finally get to read this column in print my first reaction is going to be, "How did I find time to write this?"

You see, I'm a radio comedy writer and we fellows really have to work to get the stuff out.. There isn't a grindstone around with enough stamina to stand up against a radio writer's nose.

Right now, I'm doing my own show on Saturdays. This makes me an actor. But I still have to grind the stuff out—and even though it's a labor of love it still seems to me that every ten minutes it's Saturday.

But after all, why should the radio writer complain? All he has to do is turn out a sock comedy script full of great big boffolas once a week, forty weeks a year. So what if he has to stay up a few nights—what's he got to lose? Just sleep. And after all, people don't have to sleep. That is unless they insist on being healthy. But we're not discussing health — we're discussing radio writers.

And look at what the radio comedy writer has to look forward to. He knows that after he's knocked himself out to do a program and it finally goes on the air—listeners all over the country will say things like: "They must turn that stuff out in an hour." Or "Gee, how does Fibber McGee think up all those funny things?" Or "My husband says funnier things than that."

Yes, it's things like that that make the business worth while. Another thing is to work for the kind of star who comes up to you after a great show, smiles at you, as you stand there poised for his compliment, says: "What'll we do next week?"

But seriously (in radio when you want to change the subject you always say, "but seriously" or "and now" or "no foolin'") I'd like to explain a few things about radio comedy writers which may help you understand why the stuff you hear on the air is so seldom anything like Voltaire.

First of all, let's discuss restrictions. Take censorship. The radio industry takes a firm position on the matter of s-x. It does not exist. Occasionally you'll get a flurry of slightly off-color jokes about Jane Russell or Lana Turner. These mild leers represent the pathetic efforts of frustrated writers to outwit the censors and be humorous about the facts of life. But the censors are pretty sharp and so—no s-x. Radio does go right into the home and I'm not going to discuss here whether or not censorship is necessary, but I do wish you'd bear it in mind the next time you say that the Jack Benny show isn't quite as funny as Noel Coward's "Private Lives."

The next field that's closed to the radio writer is that of topical humor: jokes about the news of the day. This field was once the richest source of humorous material for the great American humorists, the Bill Nyes, the Artemus Wards and the Will Rogerses. But for radio comedy writers it is pretty well closed. Most of the news these days comes under the dread heading of "Controversial." And no one on a commercial show can take sides on anything. Radio political humor is pretty well limited to stuff about Harry Truman's piano.

In addition, when you are on one network, you cannot admit that any other network exists. You are also restricted in your mention of comedians or shows of other networks.

When you have a commercial sponsor you cannot do jokes about a rival product, i.e., if you're writing the Ford show you can't do stuff about "merry Oldsmobiles" or the new Studebakers. If you write for a firm which makes ice cream (I did), in addition to rival ice creams, you cannot mention candies, fruits, jello, custard and such like—these being referred to by the sponsor as, and I quote, "rival desserts."

There are many more don'ts. Depending on their individual political beliefs and neuroses, sponsors don't like you to kid banks, death, marriage, mothers, Republicans, Democrats, the farmer, advertising or other such sacred institutions.

I hope all this doesn't sound like "The Radio Writer's Lament" or an unhappy guy griping. You see, I love radio. I'm in it from choice. It's a tremendously exciting medium . . . really gives a writer fast action. You write something and a day or so later your stuff is reaching a huge audience. And it's a wonderful audience . . . warm and intelligent . . . yes, I said intelligent. I'll fight anybody on that twelve-year-old mentality business.

This brings up the most distressing of the restrictions on creative radio. In this one the writer must share the guilt. I'm speaking of the taboo on humor that is "too smart" or "too subtle." Radio comedians for years have been guilty of disrespect for the intelligence of the American people. The Fred Allens, the Henry Morgans, the "Duffy's Taverns" and others have proven that Americans will buy bright, sophisticated comedy.

Sure they laugh at the corny stuff, too. But that's because they want to laugh and all that's been given them is corn. But see how they go for the good stuff when they get it.

I know that on my own program I've been operating on the assumption that I'm talking to intelligent adults—and the mail has proven that I'm right. Hooray for the American people. I love 'em.

"Tracer Of Lost Persons" Returns To Air Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 — Comes another vacationer back to the kilocycles Thursday night. It's the script of Mr. Keen, always listed as the "Tracer Of Lost Persons," or a different type of mystery yarn. The network will continue to be CBS, but the time is different 7:30. The first "case" is that of "The Man Who Traveled With Death." Bennet Kilpack continues to be Mr. Keen of the script.

The first of a series of broadcasts this weekend from the annual convention of the American Legion as it takes place in New York is on the Thursday schedule. It will be MBS at 3:30, the address of Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal.

America's Town Meeting, stopping at Phoenix, Ariz., is to debate "Can Free Enterprise Here Compete With Socialism Abroad?" The usual ABC transmission at 8:30. Next week this program is moving to Tuesday nights.

More discussion on CBS, the In My Opinion series at 5:15, will have as its question "What Do Communists Really Want?" On one side will be Robert Thompson of the N. Y. State Communist Party and on the other Eugene Lyons, writer.

Both Ralph Bellamy and Beryl Davis are on the slate for appearances in the Martin Block party on MBS at 8:30. Also Johnny Guarnieri, jazz pianist. Beryl will do some singing, while Bellamy comes on in his category as an actor. . . . The Concert of Nations, NBC at 10:30, is to be presented by Station CBR of Vancouver, B. C.

Radio In Review

By JOHN CROSBY

Abe Burrows is a veteran radio writer and one of the few who actually enjoys the work. He was the original writer of "Duffy's Tavern" and has also written the Joan Davis and Dinah Shore shows. In his spare time, Burrows composes hilarious parodies on popular songs with such titles as "The Girl With the Three Blue Eyes" or "I Got a Gal in Calico Who's Dying for a Mink" which he now sings on his show (C.B.S. 10:30 p. m. Saturdays). Here he explains some of the difficulties encountered by radio writers.—John Crosby.

By ABE BURROWS

Nobody Loves the Writers Either

When I finally get to read this column in print my first reaction is going to be, "How did I find time to write this?"

You see, I'm a radio comedy writer and we fellows really have to work to get the stuff out. There isn't a grindstone around with enough stamina to stand up against a radio writer's nose.

Right now, I'm doing my own show on Saturdays. This makes me an actor. But I still have to grind the stuff out—and even though it's a labor of love it still seems to me that every ten minutes it's Saturday.

But after all, why should the radio writer complain? All he has to do is turn out a sock comedy script full of great big boffolas once a week, forty weeks a year. So what if he has to stay up a few nights—what's he got to lose? Just sleep. And after all, people don't have to sleep. That is unless they insist on being healthy. But we're not discussing health — we're discussing radio writers.

And look at what the radio comedy writer has to look forward to. He knows that after he's knocked himself out to do a program and it finally goes on the air—listeners all over the country will say things like: "They must turn that stuff out in an hour." Or "Gee, how does Fibber McGee think up all those funny things?" Or "My husband says funnier things than that."

Yes, it's things like that that make the business worth while. Another thing is to work for the kind of star who comes up to you after a great show, smiles at you, as you stand there poised for his compliment, says: "What'll we do next week?"

But seriously (in radio when you want to change the subject you always say, "but seriously" or "and now" or "no foolin'") I'd like to explain a few things about radio comedy writers which may help you understand why the stuff you hear on the air is so seldom anything like Voltaire.

First of all, let's discuss restrictions. Take censorship. The radio industry takes a firm position on the matter of s-x. It does not exist. Occasionally you'll get a flurry of slightly off-color jokes about Jane Russell or Lana Turner. These mild leers represent the pathetic efforts of frustrated writers to outwit the censors and be humorous about the facts of life. But the censors are pretty sharp and so—no s-x. Radio does go right into the home and I'm not going to discuss here whether or not censorship is necessary, but I do wish you'd bear it in mind the next time you say that the Jack Benny show isn't quite as funny as Noel Coward's "Private Lives."

The next field that's closed to the radio writer is that of topical humor: jokes about the news of the day. This field was once the richest source of humorous material for the great American humorists, the Bill Nyes, the Artemus Wards and the Will Rogerses. But for radio comedy writers it is pretty well closed. Most of the news these days comes under the dread heading of "Controversial." And no one on a commercial show can take sides on anything. Radio political humor is pretty well limited to stuff about Harry Truman's piano.

In addition, when you are on one network, you cannot admit that any other network exists. You are also restricted in your mention of comedians or shows of other networks.

When you have a commercial sponsor you cannot do jokes about a rival product, i.e., if you're writing the Ford show you can't do stuff about "merry Oldsmobiles" or the new Studebakers. If you write for a firm which makes ice cream (I did), in addition to rival ice creams, you cannot mention candies, fruits, jello, custard and such like—these being referred to by the sponsor as, and I quote, "rival desserts."

There are many more don'ts. Depending on their individual political beliefs and neuroses, sponsors don't like you to kid banks, death, marriage, mothers, Republicans, Democrats, the farmer, advertising or other such sacred institutions.

I hope all this doesn't sound like "The Radio Writer's Lament" or an unhappy guy griping. You see, I love radio. I'm in it from choice. It's a tremendously exciting medium . . . really gives a writer fast action. You write something and a day or so later your stuff is reaching a huge audience. And it's a wonderful audience . . . warm and intelligent . . . yes, I said intelligent. I'll fight anybody on that twelve-year-old mentality business.

This brings up the most distressing of the restrictions on creative radio. In this one the writer must share the guilt. I'm speaking of the taboo on humor that is "too smart" or "too subtle." Radio comedians for years have been guilty of disrespect for the intelligence of the American people. The Fred Allens, the Henry Morgans, the "Duffy's Taverns" and others have proven that Americans will buy bright, sophisticated comedy.

Sure they laugh at the corny stuff, too. But that's because they want to laugh and all that's been given them is corn. But see how they go for the good stuff when they get it.

I know that on my own program I've been operating on the assumption that I'm talking to intelligent adults—and the mail has proven that I'm right. Hooray for the American people. I love 'em.

Michael D. Perry vs. Juanita W. Perry, No. 20,147, Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to secure the passage of a decree divorcing the Plaintiff A VINCULO MATRMONII from the defendant.

The Bill of Complaint states that the couple were married at San Bernadino, California, on the nineteenth day of April, 1945, and lived together three days at which time the Defendant abandoned and deserted the Complainant, and that the abandonment and desertion has been continuous and unbroken since that date, that there is no reasonable expectation of a reconciliation, and that no children were born of the marriage. The bill further states that the Complainant has been a resident of the state of Maryland, for more than two years next before the bringing of this suit, but that the Defendant is a non-resident of the state of Maryland, and when last heard from, was a resident of the state of California.

It is thereupon this 26th day of August, 1947, ORDERED by the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be inserted in one of the daily newspapers published in Allegany County, Maryland, once each week for four successive weeks before the 27th day of September, 1947, giving notification to the absentee Defendant of the object and substance of this suit, and warning her to be or appear in this Court either in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 13th day of October, 1947, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

3. All such Veterans mentioned who, prior to the publication of this advertisement, applied in writing to said County Commissioners to purchase one or more of said lots, shall be accorded a preference to purchase one of the same in the order of time their previous applications were filed with the County Commissioners, provided the Veteran makes an offer on a particular lot in accordance with the first paragraph of this advertisement at its stipulated price.

CHARLES N. WILKINSON.
President of the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland.

IMPORTANT NOTE. All Veterans mentioned above who, prior to the publication of this advertisement, applied in writing to said County Commissioners to purchase one or more of said lots, must now offer in writing to purchase one particular lot at its designated price as set forth in the first paragraph of the aforegoing advertisement or they will lose their priority rights previously established by their former applications.

Market Sleeps Through Slowest Session In Nearly Three Years

NEW YORK, Aug. 27—(AP)—The stock market today slept through the slowest session in nearly three years with assorted leaders establishing modest recoveries while many issues did nothing or extended their declines.

An early forward shift, led by rails, failed to attract much of a following and trends soon turned moderately irregular. The ticker tape frequently halted. While gains of fractions to a point or so were well distributed at the close, losses of as much persisted. Transfers of 480,000 shares compared with 620,000 Tuesday and were a low for five hours since September 18, 1944.

Hershey Chocolate preferred was up 2½ at 133 but the common conceded two at 110. Union Pacific added two at 139½, Macy 1¼ at 35, Allied Stores 1⅛ at 35½, South Porto Rico Sugar 1¼ at 43, Du Pont one at 190 and Southern Railway one at 38.

Lesser improvements was retained by Santa Fe, New York, Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, International Harvester, Deere, Caterpillar Tractor, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Electric Power and Light, Anaconda, Kennecott, General Electric, J. C. Penney, Gar Wood, American Locomotive and Pullman.

American Telephone, off more than a point at one time, finished down five-eighths at 155. International Paper also reduced a substantial forenoon loss to three-fourths at 46¾. Wesson Oil yielded 1⅝ at 42½ and American Can one at 88¾. Other casualties were United States Steel, Republic Steel, Consolidated Edison, Pacific Telephone, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, Dow Chemical, Johns-Manville, United States Glysum, Southern Pacific, Great Northern Railway, Baltimore and Ohio, Northern Pacific and Texas Company.

Among forward Curb movers were Puget Sound Power, Ryerson and Haynes, Heyden Chemical, United Shoe, Humble Oil and Woodley Petroleum. On the offside were Aluminum of America, Creole Petroleum, McCord Corporation and Fansteel. Turnover here was 110,000 shares versus 140,000 yesterday.

Obligations of the Chicago Transit System climbed sharply in the bond market in the wake of successful sale of $105,000,000 of new Chicago transit authority bonds.

Total bond sales of $2,680,000 on the stock exchange compared with $2,990,000 Tuesday.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
Michael D. Perry vs. Juanita W. Perry, No. 20,147, Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
The object of this suit is to secure the passage of a decree divorcing the Plaintiff A VINCULO MATRMONII from the defendant.
The Bill of Complaint states that the couple were married at San Bernadino, California, on the nineteenth day of April, 1945, and lived together three days at which time the Defendant abandoned and deserted the Complainant, and that the abandonment and desertion has been continuous and unbroken since that date, that there is no reasonable expectation of a reconciliation, and that no children were born of the marriage. The bill further states that the Complainant has been a resident of the state of Maryland, for more than two years next before the bringing of this suit, but that the Defendant is a non-resident of the state of Maryland, and when last heard from, was a resident of the state of California.
It is thereupon this 26th day of August, 1947, ORDERED by the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be inserted in one of the daily newspapers published in Allegany County, Maryland, once each week for four successive weeks before the 27th day of September, 1947, giving notification to the absentee Defendant of the object and substance of this suit, and warning her to be or appear in this Court either in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 13th day of October, 1947, to show cause, if any she may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

SUSIE Q. SMITH — By Linda and Jerry Walter

"Girls, I have a clue to where all the food went!"

Market Sleeps Through Slowest Session In Nearly Three Years

NEW YORK, Aug. 27—(AP)—The stock market today slept through the slowest session in nearly three years with assorted leaders establishing modest recoveries while many issues did nothing or extended their declines.

An early forward shift, led by rails, failed to attract much of a following and trends soon turned moderately irregular. The ticker tape frequently halted. While gains of fractions to a point or so were well distributed at the close, losses of as much persisted. Transfers of 480,000 shares compared with 620,000 Tuesday and were a low for five hours since September 18, 1944.

Hershey Chocolate preferred was up 2½ at 133 but the common conceded two at 110. Union Pacific added two at 139½, Macy 1¼ at 35, Allied Stores 1¼ at 35½, South Porto Rico Sugar 1¼ at 43, Du Pont one at 190 and Southern Railway one at 38.

Lesser improvements was retained by Santa Fe, New York, Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, International Harvester, Deere, Caterpillar Tractor, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Electric Power and Light, Anaconda, Kennecott, General Electric, J. C. Penney, Gar Wood, American Locomotive and Pullman.

American Telephone, off more than a point at one time, finished down five-eighths at 155. International Paper also reduced a substantial forenoon loss to three-fourths at 46¾. Wesson Oil yielded 1⅝ at 42½ and American Can one at 88¾. Other casualties were United States Steel, Republic Steel, Consolidated Edison, Pacific Telephone, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, Dow Chemical, Johns-Manville, United States Glysum, Southern Pacific, Great Northern Railway, Baltimore and Ohio, Northern Pacific and Texas Company.

Among forward Curb movers were Puget Sound Power, Ryerson and Haynes, Heyden Chemical, United Shoe, Humble Oil and Woodley Petroleum. On the offside were Aluminum of America, Creole Petroleum, McCord Corporation and Fansteel. Turnover here was 110,000 shares versus 140,000 yesterday.

Obligations of the Chicago Transit System climbed sharply in the bond market in the wake of successful sale of $105,000,000 of new Chicago transit authority bonds.

Total bond sales of $2,680,000 on the stock exchange compared with $2,990,000 Tuesday.

United States governments held close to previous levels in over-the-counter dealings, the Victory 2½s of December 1967-72 unchanged at 102 31-32 bid.

Storm Damage To Roads Placed At Near $16,000

Water Washes Out Two County Bridges

Two washed out bridges along with other destruction by high water Tuesday has boosted to an estimated $16,000 the damage caused to state and county roads by three cloudbursts that hit this section in five days, state and county road officials said last night.

The death of four cows, all killed by lightning in a storm Monday, in the meantime has added to the loss to private individuals, some of whom suffered damage to their homes and gardens by high water in the Frostburg and George's Creek section last Friday, Monday and Tuesday. Other damage mostly minor, to property of individuals was reported in the Westernport, Luke, Piedmont and Keyser sections after a severe storm Tuesday.

Albert S. Paye, county engineer, said a bridge over Stoney Run, about five miles east of Westernport, was completely washed away by Tuesday's storm and that a timber bent of a bridge over Braddock Run on Oaklawn Avenue, LaVale, was washed out, making the structure unsafe.

Costs $3,000 To $5,000

Not a plank of the 20 to 25 foot span over Stoney Run has been found, said Paye, who added that it will be necessary to build a new bridge at a cost of between $3,000 and $5,000.

The bridge, built by the Works Progress Administration, leads to three or four homes as well as a big strip mining operation of Morgan, Grant and Toohey, Paye related.

Rebuilding of the flooring system of the Oaklawn Avenue bridge, also built by WPA, will have to be completed before that structure again is safe for vehicles, the county engineer said. He estimated cost about $500.

This bridge is now used by only a few families who will have to park their cars between the structure and Route 40 and walk to their homes until it is repaired, Paye reported.

Work of replacing the Stoney Run bridge and repairing the Oaklawn Avenue bridge will start as soon as the water recedes and should be completed in a few weeks.

Meanwhile, G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Road Commission, said the Westernport-McCoole road, closed by a 150-foot slide of dirt, trees and rocks as a result of Tuesday's storm, was opened to one-way traffic at 6 p. m. yesterday.

More work today will be required before that highway can be opened to two-way traffic and Chaires said it probably will take a "couple more days" to entirely clean up the road there and at other points.

While there was "nothing real big," the accumulation of minor damage will send the cost of repairs to the neighborhood of $4,000, Chaires reported. This cost includes generally cleaning up slides, clearing culverts and repairing washed out shoulders.

A power shovel and snow plows were used yesterday to partially clear the blocked stretch on the Westernport-McCoole road and to remove remaining debris from another slide at Kelly's pump on Route 40 between Clarysville and Eckhart.

Dirt on the Georges Creek Boulevard near Westernport had been cleared by State Roads crews by 5 p. m yesterday.

County Engineer Paye said county road repairs, including the two bridges, will cost in the neighborhood of $10,000 and $12,000.

Damage "Under Control"

This includes repairs to roads in the Frostburg, Eckhart and Shaft areas, and Paye said damage is "pretty well under control."

Heart Attack Fatal To YMCA Night Clerk

A funeral service for Theodore Lynn Pickrell, 59, Mt. Savage, night clerk at the B. and O. YMCA, who died suddenly while at work Tuesday night, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home.

Rev. Lee H. Richcreek, pastor of Mt. Savage Methodist Church, will officiate and burial will be in Allegany Cemetery, Frostburg.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said an autopsy revealed that Mr. Pickrell died as a result of a heart attack.

Authorities ordered an autopsy after Mr. Pickrell collapsed as he was leaving the dining room of the YMCA about 9:30 p. m., shortly after an argument with a B. and O. railroader.

Barton Paralysis Victim Reported In Good Condition

The parents of 12-year-old Jean Chappell, Barton, who was admitted to Sydenham Hospital, Baltimore, earlier this week for treatment of infantile paralysis, were informed yesterday that she is responding well to treatment.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Chappell, was a seventh grade student at Barton High School last year.

Sydenham Hospital, Baltimore, reported last night that Paul David Crawford, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Crawford, of near Moscow, who was admitted there several days ago, may be able to return home early next week.

A resident physician reported that the boy has a non-paralytic type of the disease, and that his condition is "excellent."

Eight-year-old Allen Pryor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. Pryor, 107 Mary Street, is reported in "satisfactory" condition at Children's Hospital, Baltimore, where he was taken early this month after being stricken with polio.

Not since 1933 has Allegany County had as many as five infantile paralysis cases, the current number, and not since 1928 have there been as many as two (current number) deaths from the disease in one year, according to records furnished by Dr. C. H. Halliday, chief and epidemiologist of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases, State Department of Health.

In 1933 there were 14 cases in the county but no deaths. Between 1933 and 1947 the peak was four cases in 1944. There were two cases in 1934, 1941 and 1946, and single cases in 1935, 1936, 1938, 1940, 1942, and 1943. In other years there were no cases.

According to the records 1928 was the worst year for polio deaths in the county. In that year there were 29 cases and five deaths. In 1917 there were 40 cases but the number of deaths, if any, is not available.

Since 1910, the date when complete records were started, years with five or more cases were: Six, 1911, five, 1913, five, 1915, eight, 1916, and six, 1918.

In the 38-year period there have been 163 cases and at least 12 deaths from the disease. Death records are not available previous to 1923.

Although the five cases reported so far for 1947 are the greatest in 14 years. Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county and city health officer, says there is no reason for alarm. He said that polio is common this time of year and usually drops off when cool weather starts.

The death victims this year have been James Alan Morris, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Morris, 565 Patterson Avenue, and Bernard Wickard, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wickard, 300 North Centre Street.

City Hall Will Observe Holiday

Next week's meeting of the Mayor and Council will be held Tuesday instead of Monday, Labor Day, when City Hall offices will be closed, Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday.

City Hall will be closed at noon today in observance of Cumberland Day at Fairgo.

1946 Champions Will Defend Honors In Horse Pulling Contest Tonight

Owners of last year's winning teams will be back to defend their laurels tonight at the annual horse pulling contest to be held in conjunction with the Cumberland Fair.

The Glotfelty Lumber Company, of Oakland, whose team won the heavy event last year has informed County Agent Ralph F. McHenry that its team will compete again tonight. So has Clarence Shaffer, Jr., Hagerstown, whose team won the light event.

Both teams, however, are due for a lot of competition with 20 teams slated to take part in the contest, scheduled to begin at 8 p. m. under floodlights on the race track in front of the grandstand.

$500 In Prizes

Other entries received include Ed J. McElfish, Bedford County, Pa.; Jack Horne and Earl Barkdoll, Hagerstown; William Hay, Somerset, Pa.; William Ream, Friedens, Pa.; and Robert Maust, Berlin, Pa. Additional teams have entered from Allegany and Garrett Counties and from the Meyersdale, Pa., section.

A total of $500 in prizes is offered. Prizes in each of the two classes will be first, $50; second, $35; third, $25, and fourth, $20.

All teams accepted as entries that participate in the contest but remain unplaced will receive $15 to help pay expenses.

Teams competing are to meet at the Cumberland Stock Yards at Triple Lakes near Fairgo at 5 p. m. to be weighed and measured and entered in the proper class.

The light class is for teams weighing under 3,000 pounds and standing less than 16 hands high; the heavy class is for teams weighing in excess of 3,000 pound.

Dynamometer Registers Pull

A dynamometer will be furnished by the Maryland Horse Breeders' Association to determine the winners, and McHenry explained that the machine registers the pulling power of each team.

No particular training is necessary, he said, other than having the team accustomed to pulling a distance of 27½ feet in one continuous pull. Regular farm work was termed a good conditioner.

Joseph H. Vial, of the livestock department of the University of Maryland, will officiate and will be accompanied by a representative of the Maryland Horse Breeders' Association who will act as master of ceremonies, announcing the entries, weights the teams are pulling and the results of the contest as each team completes its pull.

There is no admission charge for the contest.

Scalp Ointments Can Cause Death, Doctor Warns

Local Physician Explains Facts

The lethal possibilities of scalp ointments containing poison have been revealed to the medical world for the first time by Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, M. D., director of laboratories at Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Skitarelic, who has been in Cumberland for the past year serving as specialist in pathology and chemical pathology for Allegany and Garrett Counties, was a professor in the School of Medicine of the University of Maryland at the time a two-year-old girl died from what medical authorities concluded was a fatal amount of picrotoxin and veratrine vertain absorbed into her system through the scalp.

The drugs were contained in an ointment that the child's mother used to apply on the girl's head to kill vermin.

Dr. Skitarelic, then assistant medical examiner, figured in the case when it was first brought to attention of Baltimore authorities October 9, 1945. He did not write his conclusions for the Journal, however, until coming to Cumberland.

Picrotoxin, derived from the seed of the fishberry, is the principal ingredient in "knockout drops," he stated.

In small quantities it produces nausea, accompanied by a burning sensation, pallor and quick, shallow breathing. In higher concentrations it produces eventual paralysis and death from asphyxiation.

Veratrine, a mixture of alkoloids extracted from sabadilla seeds, produces, when taken into the system in excessive quantities, a burning sensation in the mouth and stomach, followed by great thirst, difficulty in swallowing, nausea and eventual death due to cardiac and respiratory failure.

According to Dr. Skitarelic's report, the mother of the child, when questioned, said that instead of using the ointment as directed, an application of two or three tablespoonfuls, she had used the entire bottle in a single application.

The mother, reported Dr. Skitarelic, said she applied the ointment and put the child to bed at 4 p. m. and that when she went to look at her daughter at 7 p. m. she was dead.

The mother denied any possibility that the girl could have taken the preparation by mouth, said Dr. Skitarelic, and subsequent autopsy seemed to bear this out, since none was found in the stomach.

Consequently the conclusion was reached that the child absorbed a fatal amount of the combined drugs through her scalp.

Records in the medical examiner's office reveal that the parents of the child were transients who went to Baltimore from the south during the war and left the city not long after the child's death.

Missing Lamp Is Returned At Night

Walter Henry, 207 South Street, doesn't know if the thief repented or just got cold feet, but his solid brass table lamp, missing since last Friday, is back in the proper place in the living room.

Henry said the lamp, which he values at about $18 was taken last Friday night after the thief broke the window screen and lifted the lamp off the table.

Henry reported the theft to police and Tuesday an officer from the Police Department called at his home to get information about the theft.

Tuesday night at 11 o'clock, Henry heard his dog barking and fearful of another theft he got up and walked to the back yard. There all bright and shiny was the lamp.

The screen has been replaced and Henry said the lamp is back in place. Who took it? Henry says he doesn't know but he's very grateful that they returned it.

She is shown in the photograph holding some of her prize-winning exhibits at the fair. Ruth Smith, 17, Flintstone, Named "Miss Allegany," 1947 Farmerette

Selected Over 11 Other Contestants

Ruth Smith, 17-year-old brown-haired Flintstone High School senior who won the school's achievement medal in June for being the best all around girl student, yesterday was selected over 11 other contestants at the Cumberland Fair as "Miss Allegany," 1947 famerette.

Miss Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, Flintstone, was selected, the judges said, for her accomplishments and personality.

Rosemary Weimer, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Weimer, Mt. Savage, finished in second place.

Held in the main exhibit hall at the Cumberland Fair Grounds, the contestants, all unmarried farm girls 16 to 18 years old, paraded past the judges who scrutinized them for general appearance and health, costume, accessories, hair arrangement, make-up, poise, posture, carriage, friendliness, charm and graciousness.

Then the judges conferred for more than an hour to find the winner after determining the contestants' farmerette qualifications. These included educational preparation, home activities, household duties, farm activities, financial successes and such things as making their own clothing, making clothing for the family and doing the laundry for the family.

Competes For Miss Maryland

By winning yesterday, Miss Smith won $15 prize money and on Saturday she will go to Timonium State Fair to compete for the title of Miss Maryland Farmerette of 1947. She will be entertained at luncheon along with the representatives of the 22 other counties prior to the contest.

Miss Weimer, who placed second, won $10 and each of the other contestants received $2.50.

An active 4-H Club member for the past nine years, Miss Smith has been a member of several county demonstration teams on foods, clothing and child care.

At the fair this year she has won about $30 in prizes for her various entries, including clothing, a made-over coat, canned foods, baked goods, notebook and fresh vegetables.

President of the Flintstone 4-H Girls Club in 1946-47, Miss Smith also is secretary of Piney Plains Methodist Church and helps out in the community cannery near her home.

She earns her own spending money, makes her own clothing, does most of the family baking, almost all of the meal planning and assists in various neighborhood projects.

While 4-H is her hobby, Miss Smith also likes to give parties and experiment with foods, particularly from the standpoint of attractive and novel ways of preparation.

Studying home economics at Flintstone High, Miss Smith hopes to attend State Teachers College, Frostburg, upon her graduation from high school, so that she may become a teacher.

Sister State Champion

Winning honors, however, is not new to the Smith family because last year Ruth's sister, Christine, represented Maryland as state champion at the National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

Eight Clubs Are Invited To Study Traffic Problems

Representatives Will Meet With City Police

Representatives from eight local organizations have been invited to meet with officials of the Cumberland Police Department September 3 and begin studying the local traffic situation, according to Acting Chief of Police R. Emmet Flynn.

The meeting which will initiate Flynn's plans to correct traffic conditions in the business district will be held in the Public Safety Building, Frederick Street, beginning at 10 a. m.

In his letter of invitation, the acting chief stated that he is in hopes of putting on a traffic squad to facilitate the handling of traffic in the city, and he informed the invited representatives that their ideas will be appreciated.

Flynn informed the organizations that he is hopeful that each will send at least one representative and more if possible. The best ideas presented at the meeting, will be put into effect and tried under working conditions, Flynn informed the groups.

Organizations receiving the invitations include the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, Junior Association of Commerce, Kiwanis Club, Rotary Club, Exchange Club, Lions Club, Western Maryland Motor Club and Western Maryland Safety Council.

The acting chief previously declared that after a thorough discussion of the traffic problem and methods of correcting it, he and the representatives will make a personal inspection of the streets and study at first hand the conditions that are causing congestion. He added that he thought it would be to the best advantage to take one street at a time and make every effort to improve conditions there before moving to another sector.

"We could start with Mechanic Street," Flynn explained, "see what is wrong there and then put into effect those regulations that apparently would help. If we are wrong in our initial attempt to correct conditions, we can change the plans and try again.

"I know we will make mistakes," Flynn said, "but we can not accomplish anything unless we try."

The other is Kenneth Shelley, electrician's mate first class. Three similar billets will be filled before the armory is completed, and two civilians will be employed through the Civil Service Board as ground maintenance men, Comdr. Hedrick said.

Meanwhile, Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schradar, local Navy recruiter, announced that four young area men, all of whom enlisted in the regular Navy as apprentice seamen for three years, have been assigned to Great Lakes, Ill., for training.

They are Robert Clay Stahl, 17, Grantsville; Harvey Geiger Wahl, 18, Boynton, Pa.; Allan Dale Gank, 17, and Charles Robert Bergner, 19, both of Hutton.

Storm Damage To Roads Placed At Near $16,000

Water Washes Out Two County Bridges

Two washed out bridges along with other destruction by high water Tuesday has boosted to an estimated $16,000 the damage caused to state and county roads by three cloudbursts that hit this section in five days, state and county road officials said last night.

The death of four cows, all killed by lightning in a storm Monday, in the meantime has added to the loss to private individuals, some of whom suffered damage to their homes and gardens by high water in the Frostburg and George's Creek section last Friday, Monday and Tuesday. Other damage mostly minor, to property of individuals was reported in the Westernport, Luke, Piedmont and Keyser sections after a severe storm Tuesday.

Albert S. Paye, county engineer, said a bridge over Stoney Run, about five miles east of Westernport, was completely washed away by Tuesday's storm and that a timber bent of a bridge over Braddock Run on Oaklawn Avenue, LaVale, was washed out, making the structure unsafe.

Costs $3,000 To $5,000

Not a plank of the 20 to 25 foot span over Stoney Run has been found, said Paye, who added that it will be necessary to build a new bridge at a cost of between $3,000 and $5,000.

The bridge, built by the Works Progress Administration, leads to three or four homes as well as a big strip mining operation of Morgan, Grant and Toohey, Paye related.

Rebuilding of the flooring system of the Oaklawn Avenue bridge, also built by WPA, will have to be completed before that structure again is safe for vehicles, the county engineer said. He estimated cost about $500.

This bridge is now used by only a few families who will have to park their cars between the structure and Route 40 and walk to their homes until it is repaired, Paye reported.

Work of replacing the Stoney Run bridge and repairing the Oaklawn Avenue bridge will start as soon as the water recedes and should be completed in a few weeks.

Meanwhile, G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Road Commission, said the Westernport-McCoole road, closed by a 150-foot slide of dirt, trees and rocks as a result of Tuesday's storm, was opened to one-way traffic at 6 p. m. yesterday.

More work today will be required before that highway can be opened to two-way traffic and Chaires said it probably will take a "couple more days" to entirely clean up the road there and at other points.

While there was "nothing real big," the accumulation of minor damage will send the cost of repairs to the neighborhood of $4,000, Chaires reported. This cost includes generally cleaning up slides, clearing culverts and repairing washed out shoulders.

A power shovel and snow plows were used yesterday to partially clear the blocked stretch on the Westernport-McCoole road and to remove remaining debris from another slide at Kelly's pump on Route 40 between Clarysville and Eckhart.

Dirt on the Georges Creek Boulevard near Westernport had been cleared by State Roads crews by 5 p. m yesterday.

County Engineer Paye said county road repairs, including the two bridges, will cost in the neighborhood of $10,000 and $12,000.

Damage "Under Control"

This includes repairs to roads in the Frostburg, Eckhart and Shaft areas, and Paye said damage is "pretty well under control."

Heart Attack Fatal To YMCA Night Clerk

A funeral service for Theodore Lynn Pickrell, 59, Mt. Savage, night clerk at the B. and O. YMCA, who died suddenly while at work Tuesday night, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home.

Rev. Lee H. Richcreek, pastor of Mt. Savage Methodist Church, will officiate and burial will be in Allegany Cemetery, Frostburg.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said an autopsy revealed that Mr. Pickrell died as a result of a heart attack.

Authorities ordered an autopsy after Mr. Pickrell collapsed as he was leaving the dining room of the YMCA about 9:30 p. m., shortly after an argument with a B. and O. railroader.

Barton Paralysis Victim Reported In Good Condition

The parents of 12-year-old Jean Chappell, Barton, who was admitted to Sydenham Hospital, Baltimore, earlier this week for treatment of infantile paralysis, were informed yesterday that she is responding well to treatment.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Chappell, was a seventh grade student at Barton High School last year.

Sydenham Hospital, Baltimore, reported last night that Paul David Crawford, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Crawford, of near Moscow, who was admitted there several days ago, may be able to return home early next week.

A resident physician reported that the boy has a non-paralytic type of the disease, and that his condition is "excellent."

Eight-year-old Allen Pryor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. Pryor, 107 Mary Street, is reported in "satisfactory" condition at Children's Hospital, Baltimore, where he was taken early this month after being stricken with polio.

Not since 1933 has Allegany County had as many as five infantile paralysis cases, the current number, and not since 1928 have there been as many as two (current number) deaths from the disease in one year, according to records furnished by Dr. C. H. Halliday, chief and epidemiologist of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases, State Department of Health.

In 1933 there were 14 cases in the county but no deaths. Between 1933 and 1947 the peak was four cases in 1944. There were two cases in 1934, 1941 and 1946, and single cases in 1935, 1936, 1938, 1940, 1942, and 1943. In other years there were no cases.

According to the records 1928 was the worst year for polio deaths in the county. In that year there were 29 cases and five deaths. In 1917 there were 40 cases but the number of deaths, if any, is not available.

Since 1910, the date when complete records were started, years with five or more cases were: Six, 1911, five, 1913, five, 1915, eight, 1916, and six, 1918.

In the 38-year period there have been 163 cases and at least 12 deaths from the disease. Death records are not available previous to 1923.

Although the five cases reported so far for 1947 are the greatest in 14 years, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county and city health officer, says there is no reason for alarm. He said that polio is common this time of year and usually drops off when cool weather starts.

The death victims this year have been James Alan Morris, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Morris, 565 Patterson Avenue, and Bernard Wickard, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wickard, 300 North Centre Street.

Dale Harvey, Frostburg, a student at Beall High School, won first prize in the third annual Future Farmers of America livestock judging contest held at the Cumberland Fair Tuesday, according to J. H. House, vocational agriculture instructor of the Board of Education.

Scalp Ointments Can Cause Death, Doctor Warns

Local Physician Explains Facts

The lethal possibilities of scalp ointments containing poison have been revealed to the medical world for the first time by Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, M. D., director of laboratories at Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Skitarelic, who has been in Cumberland for the past year serving as specialist in pathology and chemical pathology for Allegany and Garrett Counties, was a professor in the School of Medicine of the University of Maryland at the time a two-year-old girl died from what medical authorities concluded was a fatal amount of picrotoxin and veratrine vertain absorbed into her system through the scalp.

The drugs were contained in an ointment that the child's mother used to apply on the girl's head to kill vermin.

Dr. Skitarelic, then assistant medical examiner, figured in the case when it was first brought to attention of Baltimore authorities October 9, 1945. He did not write his conclusions for the Journal, however, until coming to Cumberland.

Picrotoxin, derived from the seed of the fishberry, is the principal ingredient in "knockout drops," he stated.

In small quantities it produces nausea, accompanied by a burning sensation, pallor and quick, shallow breathing. In higher concentrations it produces eventual paralysis and death from asphyxiation.

Veratrine, a mixture of alkoloids extracted from sabadilla seeds, produces, when taken into the system in excessive quantities, a burning sensation in the mouth and stomach, followed by great thirst, difficulty in swallowing, nausea and eventual death due to cardiac and respiratory failure.

According to Dr. Skitarelic's report, the mother of the child, when questioned, said that instead of using the ointment as directed, an application of two or three tablespoonfuls, she had used the entire bottle in a single application.

The mother, reported Dr. Skitarelic, said she applied the ointment and put the child to bed at 4 p. m. and that when she went to look at her daughter at 7 p. m. she was dead.

The mother denied any possibility that the girl could have taken the preparation by mouth, said Dr. Skitarelic, and subsequent autopsy seemed to bear this out, since none was found in the stomach.

Consequently the conclusion was reached that the child absorbed a fatal amount of the combined drugs through her scalp.

Records in the medical examiner's office reveal that the parents of the child were transients who went to Baltimore from the south during the war and left the city not long after the child's death.

Missing Lamp Is Returned At Night

Walter Henry, 207 South Street, doesn't know if the thief repented or just got cold feet, but his solid brass table lamp, missing since last Friday, is back in the proper place in the living room.

Henry said the lamp, which he values at about $18 was taken last Friday night after the thief broke the window screen and lifted the lamp off the table.

Henry reported the theft to police and Tuesday an officer from the Police Department called at his home to get information about the theft.

Tuesday night at 11 o'clock, Henry heard his dog barking and fearful of another theft he got up and walked to the back yard. There all bright and shiny was the lamp.

The screen has been replaced and Henry said the lamp is back in place. Who took it? Henry says he doesn't know but he's very grateful that they returned it.

She is shown in the photograph holding some of her prize-winning exhibits at the fair. Ruth Smith, 17, Flintstone, Named "Miss Allegany," 1947 Farmerette

Selected Over 11 Other Contestants

Ruth Smith, 17-year-old brown-haired Flintstone High School senior who won the school's achievement medal in June for being the best all around girl student, yesterday was selected over 11 other contestants at the Cumberland Fair as "Miss Allegany," 1947 famerette.

Miss Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, Flintstone, was selected, the judges said, for her accomplishments and personality.

Rosemary Weimer, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Weimer, Mt. Savage, finished in second place.

Held in the main exhibit hall at the Cumberland Fair Grounds, the contestants, all unmarried farm girls 16 to 18 years old, paraded past the judges who scrutinized them for general appearance and health, costume, accessories, hair arrangement, make-up, poise, posture, carriage, friendliness, charm and graciousness.

Then the judges conferred for more than an hour to find the winner after determining the contestants' farmerette qualifications. These included educational preparation, home activities, household duties, farm activities, financial successes and such things as making their own clothing, making clothing for the family and doing the laundry for the family.

Competes For Miss Maryland

By winning yesterday, Miss Smith won $15 prize money and on Saturday she will go to Timonium State Fair to compete for the title of Miss Maryland Farmerette of 1947. She will be entertained at luncheon along with the representatives of the 22 other counties prior to the contest.

Miss Weimer, who placed second, won $10 and each of the other contestants received $2.50.

An active 4-H Club member for the past nine years, Miss Smith has been a member of several county demonstration teams on foods, clothing and child care.

At the fair this year she has won about $30 in prizes for her various entries, including clothing, a made-over coat, canned foods, baked goods, notebook and fresh vegetables.

President of the Flintstone 4-H Girls Club in 1946-47, Miss Smith also is secretary of Piney Plains Methodist Church and helps out in the community cannery near her home.

She earns her own spending money, makes her own clothing, does most of the family baking, almost all of the meal planning and assists in various neighborhood projects.

While 4-H is her hobby, Miss Smith also likes to give parties and experiment with foods, particularly from the standpoint of attractive and novel ways of preparation.

Studying home economics at Flintstone High, Miss Smith hopes to attend State Teachers College, Frostburg, upon her graduation from high school, so that she may become a teacher.

Sister State Champion

Winning honors, however, is not new to the Smith family because last year Ruth's sister, Christine, represented Maryland as state champion at the National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

Two Local Girls Painfully Burned By Scalding Water

Hancock Area Boy Is Pinned Under Tractor

Two local girls, one 10 and the other 9, were treated in Allegany Hospital last night for first and second degree burns suffered when they were sprayed by scalding hot water.

They were Mary Rita Coniff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coniff, 300 Park Street, who suffered first and second degree burns of the right arm, and Alice Collins, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Collins, 206 Central Avenue, who suffered burns of the same intensity on the hips.

The two girls and a companion who escaped injury, were in the bathroom of the Coniff home when they turned the hot water faucet on too far and were sprayed by the scalding water.

A 13-year-old Hancock area youth was admitted to Washington County Hospital, Hagerstown, yesterday afternoon for treatment of injuries suffered when he was pinned beneath a tractor he was operating.

The lad, Walter Dyer, Jr., of Timber Ridge, east of Hancock, was reported in a good condition in the hospital last night.

Hospital attaches said the boy complained of pain in the right hip and said that X-rays will be taken to determine the extent of injuries. It was reported the lad was wedged beneath the heavy vehicle which had to be pried up before he could be extricated.

"ENCHANTMENT" WINS CAMERA CLUB PRIZE

"Enchantment," a black and white print by William Price, won first prize in a contest conducted last night by the Cumberland Camera Club at its annual picnic, held in Constitution Park. About 40 persons attended.

The winning prints will go on display today for two weeks in Harvey's store window, while the remaining 18 will be displayed in the club's regular exhibit section inside the store.

Mrs. King won a prize of photographic equipment for accuracy in identifying club members from their baby photographs, in a second contest.

The club will hold its next meeting Wednesday, September 24, in the Knights of Malta Hall. Dooley will judge prints entered at that time.

Eight Clubs Are Invited To Study Traffic Problems

Representatives Will Meet With City Police

Representatives from eight local organizations have been invited to meet with officials of the Cumberland Police Department September 3 and begin studying the local traffic situation, according to Acting Chief of Police R. Emmet Flynn.

The meeting which will initiate Flynn's plans to correct traffic conditions in the business district will be held in the Public Safety Building, Frederick Street, beginning at 10 a. m.

In his letter of invitation, the acting chief stated that he is in hopes of putting on a traffic squad to facilitate the handling of traffic in the city, and he informed the invited representatives that their ideas will be appreciated.

Flynn informed the organizations that he is hopeful that each will send at least one representative and more if possible. The best ideas presented at the meeting, will be put into effect and tried under working conditions, Flynn informed the groups.

Organizations receiving the invitations include the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, Junior Association of Commerce, Kiwanis Club, Rotary Club, Exchange Club, Lions Club, Western Maryland Motor Club and Western Maryland Safety Council.

The acting chief previously declared that after a thorough discussion of the traffic problem and methods of correcting it, he and the representatives will make a personal inspection of the streets and study at first hand the conditions that are causing congestion. He added that he thought it would be to the best advantage to take one street at a time and make every effort to improve conditions there before moving to another sector.

"We could start with Mechanic Street," Flynn explained, "see what is wrong there and then put into effect those regulations that apparently would help. If we are wrong in our initial attempt to correct conditions, we can change the plans and try again.

"I know we will make mistakes," Flynn said, "but we can not accomplish anything unless we try."

NAVAL ARMORY KEEPER WILL ASSUME DUTIES

Raymond M. Kelley, storekeeper second class, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Valentine, 245 Humbird Street, will assume his duties today at the Naval Reserve office as armory keeper, according to Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer of the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division.

Kelley, a veteran of 33 months' service, is the second storekeeper to be appointed in connection with the new Naval Reserve armory which is being constructed on McKaig's Hill at the eastern end of Baltimore Street.

The other is Kenneth Shelley, electrician's mate first class. Three similar billets will be filled before the armory is completed, and two civilians will be employed through the Civil Service Board as ground maintenance men, Comdr. Hedrick said.

Meanwhile, Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schradar, local Navy recruiter, announced that four young area men, all of whom enlisted in the regular Navy as apprentice seamen for three years, have been assigned to Great Lakes, Ill., for training.

They are Robert Clay Stahl, 17, Grantsville; Harvey Geiger Wahl, 18, Boynton, Pa.; Allan Dale Gank, 17, and Charles Robert Bergner, 19, both of Hutton.

Traffic Officer Is Struck By Truck

Officer Arthur Kennell of the Cumberland Police Department, was struck by a tractor-trailer at the Greene-Baltimore Street intersection yesterday at 7:10 p. m. while directing traffic but escaped injury according to department officials.

Kennell, authorities explained, was directing the heavy flow of traffic that was returning from the races, when a tractor-trailer driven by Calvin Deal, North Centre Street entered Greene Street from Baltimore Street and struck the traffic officer.

No charges were placed against the driver, authorities said, since the view wa sobstructed by the traffic jam.

1946 Champions Will Defend Honors In Horse Pulling Contest Tonight

Owners of last year's winning teams will be back to defend their laurels tonight at the annual horse pulling contest to be held in conjunction with the Cumberland Fair.

The Glotfelty Lumber Company, of Oakland, whose team won the heavy event last year has informed County Agent Ralph F. McHenry that its team will compete again tonight. So has Clarence Shaffer, Jr., Hagerstown, whose team won the light event.

Both teams, however, are due for a lot of competition with 20 teams slated to take part in the contest, scheduled to begin at 8 p. m. under floodlights on the race track in front of the grandstand.

$500 In Prizes

Other entries received include Ed J. McElfish, Bedford County, Pa.; Jack Horne and Earl Barkdoll, Hagerstown; William Hay, Somerset, Pa.; William Ream, Friedens, Pa.; and Robert Maust, Berlin, Pa. Additional teams have entered from Allegany and Garrett Counties and from the Meyersdale, Pa., section.

A total of $500 in prizes is offered. Prizes in each of the two classes will be first, $50; second, $35; third, $25, and fourth, $20.

All teams accepted as entries that participate in the contest but remain unplaced will receive $15 to help pay expenses.

Teams competing are to meet at the Cumberland Stock Yards at Triple Lakes near Fairgo at 5 p. m. to be weighed and measured and entered in the proper class.

The light class is for teams weighing under 3,000 pounds and standing less than 16 hands high; the heavy class is for teams weighing in excess of 3,000 pound.

Dynamometer Registers Pull

A dynamometer will be furnished by the Maryland Horse Breeders' Association to determine the winners, and McHenry explained that the machine registers the pulling power of each team.

No particular training is necessary, he said, other than having the team accustomed to pulling a distance of 27½ feet in one continuous pull. Regular farm work was termed a good conditioner.

Joseph H. Vial, of the livestock department of the University of Maryland, will officiate and will be accompanied by a representative of the Maryland Horse Breeders' Association who will act as master of ceremonies, announcing the entries, weights the teams are pulling and the results of the contest as each team completes its pull.

There is no admission charge for the contest.
